PIRATES SLAY OFFICERS OF BRITISH SHIP

Native Quartermaster Also Is Killed—Chinese Navigation Company's Steamer Is Captured

1,400 PASSENGERS ON BOARD VESSEL

Prize Is Taken to Hongai Bay, North of Notorious Lair of Chinese Pirates at Bias Bay

LONDON, Sept. 28.—Two British officers of the Chinese navigation company's steamer Yanting have been killed by Chinese pirates.

The pirates captured the ship with its 1,400 passengers on Wednesday, and steered it to Hongai Bay, which is north of Bias Bay, the notorious lair of Chinese pirates. The Chinese quartermaster of the vessel was also killed.

CACHE FOUND HOLDS FURS WORTH $10,000

WINNIPEG, Sept. 28.—When officers of the Royal Canadian mounted police found a $10,000 cache of furs located on a farm near Moose Jaw, they seized them and then built a "dummy" cache made of grain stooks and four fur coats. Then they hid in the nearby bush. Dennis J. Pennington, now to local associates as Dapper Dan, drove up near the "dummy" cache on the night of September 2, stepped from his car and was immediately arrested. Today at a preliminary hearing Pennington was charged with theft and shopbreaking and was committed to stand at the fall assizes opening here on October 1.

The furs had been stolen from a seal furrier on September 9. David "Whitey" Berger, an alleged accomplice, who surrendered to local police several days after the capture of Pennington, will be given a preliminary hearing tomorrow.

MR. LARKIN DENIES

LONDON, Sept. 28.—Hon. P. C. Larkin, Canadian High Commissioner, today told the Canadian press that the statement of Bishop Boyd, of Saskatoon, who had been told in England that Mr. Larkin was opposed to emigration from Great Britain to Canada, is utterly unfounded. Mr. Larkin said he has nothing whatever to do with immigration. Alluding to his connection with the Canadian tea industry, the High Commissioner said he would have taken leave of a season if he were adverse to British immigration, for there was a person in Canada who would not finance him to a larger extent than he would for the immigration from this tea-drinking country. "Indeed," he said, "I am very much interested in the constant increase of British migration to Canada."

ENROLL FORCE OF VOLUNTEERS

GOVERNMENT OF SOUTH AUSTRALIA TO HAVE 2,000 MEN BY SATURDAY

To Protect Cargo Handlers From Strikers—Contest Becomes More Violent

MELBOURNE, Sept. 28.—The Government tonight was hastening recruiting of volunteer constables as the result of a series of acts of violence connected with the strike of waterfront workers.

Homes of stavecore foremen have been bombed, and the police have been forced to use their batons to prevent crowds of strikers from forcing their way into bureau opened to recruit labor for the docks.

No one was injured by the bombs, but considerable property damage was done.

Premier Butler of South Australia has declared that the issue is not one of constitutional government, and has called for citizens to enroll as special constables.

The Government today announced that a force of 2,000 is expected to be in readiness by Saturday night to protect the volunteer cargo handlers. The South Australia cabinet has proclaimed a state of crisis. The trades unionists in Port Adelaide have been bitter in their denunciation of shipowners, of the cause of the Government in instituting legislation for registration of waterfront workers, and of the findings of the arbitration court. They have refused the advice of union leaders that they accept the award of the twelve-a-day hiring system.

Former Treasurer Of Church in U.S. Held in Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, Sept. 28.—Clinton C. Carnes, former treasurer of the Home Missions Board of the Southern Baptist convention, Atlanta, Ga., was arrested here today. He was arrested on a warrant charging embezzlement. On September 5, at Atlanta, Ga., Dr. Charles Daniel, chairman of the executive committee of the church, announced there was apparently a shortage of $1,000,000 in the books handled by Carnes. At that time he had disappeared from Atlanta.

QUEBEC PLANTS USE FIR FROM THIS PROVINCE

President of Canada Life Assurance Company Arrives Here With General Manager

IS OPTIMISTIC ON BUSINESS IN WEST

There is a large quantity of Douglas fir being used in the extensive industrial construction programme in Eastern Quebec, according to Mr. Leighton G. McCarthy, K.C., of Toronto, who is here in his capacity of president of the Canada Life Assurance Company. With him is Mr. T. G. McConkey, director and general manager of the company. Among his directorships, Mr. McCarthy explained to The Colonist, is an interest in the aluminum industry in Quebec, and there has been a great demand for British Columbia soft woods in construction purposes for these plants, he says, owing to its suitability. These industrial openings will continue to call for large shipments of British Columbia fir.

Speaking as an insurance company president, Mr. McCarthy says there continues to be remarkable activity in that business. Canada Life is fully participating in the general prosperity of Canadian life insurance companies. On both its insurance and loan sections the company is expanding its West. Its investment in building construction is increasing steadily.

He has been greatly impressed with the handling of business created by internationally-known organizations in the larger cities of the Prairies, and with the marvelous expansion of the Wheat Pool on the Prairies. In addition to these indications of improved conditions, as an indirect result of good harvest, Mr. McCarthy is also much struck by the amount of new capital flowing into the Prairies for the development of mining in Northern Manitoba and part of Saskatchewan, a new factor in Canadian business life.

Mr. McCarthy was here a year ago, and being here at the time the wheat was taking place on the grain elevator project he confessed himself genuinely surprised to see it erected and ready for operation. He said he was not at all doubtful of the fruition of the plan.

Messrs. McCarthy and McConkey will be in the city until Monday.

British High Commissioner at Rideau Hall

ELEVATOR IS TO BE WARNED ON SCREENINGS

Object Is to Prevent Distribution of Noxious Seeds in Grain Treatment at Ogden Point Plant

ISSUE IS BEFORE MILK COMMISSION

In view of the fact that the Panama-Pacific Grain Terminal elevator will be in operation very shortly the Provincial Department of Agriculture will take the course of advising the management with respect to the working of the acts governing the disposal of screenings. As the screenings come from the elevator there is in addition to the ordinary wheat screenings, a considerable quantity of noxious seeds. It is with respect to the latter that trouble arises. Against the spreading of them that legislation has been passed, among them being the Feeding Stuffs Act of the Dominion. Under these regulations it is required that the noxious seeds should be cleaned from the screenings before they are allowed to be fed in this country. If otherwise fed in the country the refuse from the animals so fed must be taken out to sea.

At the present time something like 80 or 90 per cent of the screenings, as they come from the elevators in Vancouver, are shipped to Seattle, where they are used under careful regulations. The matter has been before the Milk Commission, which has been sitting for the purpose of investigating the milk supply of Greater Vancouver, and the two sides were presented before that body, the one favoring the lessening of some of the restrictions, and the other adhering to the keeping out of all danger of noxious weeds introduced into the country through the medium of the elevator screenings.

PARIS COMMENTS ON NOTE OF U.S.

Washington's Attitude Regarded as Making New Basis of Naval Accord Necessary

PARIS, Sept. 28.—The French conclusion which the French have drawn from Washington's reply to the French note concerning the Franco-British naval accord, delivered to the foreign office today, is that the search for a basis for further reduction in naval armaments must begin all over again. The text of the note was generally known until tomorrow, but its essential features are known and are being commented upon in a rather noncommittal tone. There is evident satisfaction in official circles that the note leaves the way open for further negotiations.

It is remarked semi-officially on that point that the Franco-British agreement was considered in Paris as imposing conditions for naval armament limitations, but rather as forming the basis for a discussion at Geneva.

TORONTO, Sept. 28.—W. A. Littlejohn, for twenty-eight years official clerk of Toronto, died here, in his seventy-second year, tonight.

Way Open to Extend Safeguarding Tariff For British Industry

IPSWICH, Suffolk, Eng., Sept. 28.—Right Hon. L. C. M. S. Amery, Secretary of State for the Dominions, speaking here tonight, said that "in view of an unreasoning prejudice still existing in Great Britain," Premier Stanley Baldwin had concluded that the time was not ripe for "a complete reversal to a policy of anything like general protection or a general tariff."

Amery added that in the next parliament, however, there would be no limit either upon the character or number of industries which could secure safeguarding for themselves and their workmen, provided always (and there is a clear line of distinction between safeguarding and general protection) that each industry, on its own, could prove a clear case on a balance of benefit to the nation.

PICKED UP IN SKIFF AT SEA

MEN FROM DESTROYED VESSEL ARE FOUND BY FISHERMEN

Overpowered by Flames After Desperate Battle, They Abandon Ship Just in Time

CORVOVA, Alaska, Sept. 28.—Captain John Hartelroax, Engineer Louis Anderson and Arthur Anderson, deckhand, who escaped in a skiff from the burning Pioneer Cannery tender Ikaros yesterday, were picked up today by fishermen and brought to safety. The crew reported they fought desperately to save the ship but were overpowered by the flames. Just after they abandoned the ship, they said, the gasoline on board exploded.

MR. H. NORMAN FINN GOES TO VANCOUVER

VANCOUVER, Sept. 28.—H. Norman Finn, assistant secretary of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, on October 15 will assume duties as secretary of a division of the bureau of the Vancouver Board of Trade. It is announced by W. E. Payne, secretary of the board. For nine years he has been with the Victoria organization. He has been associated with commercial life in the Capital since 1911, except for a period of war service.

TAX SALE OF LAND TO BE HELD MONDAY

Fewer Than 200 Pieces of Property Expected to Be Put Up at Auction by City Treasurer

TODAY IS LAST TO PAY TAXES

In keeping with the steady decline of properties reverting to the city, fewer parcels of land will be put up at the city's annual tax sale on Monday than were last year. Edwin C. Smith, city treasurer, announced yesterday.

Up to yesterday there was a total of 268 parcels of land remaining to be redeemed before being put up for sale at public auction by the city. The total in the morning was 368, but during the day 100 were redeemed. It is expected that by Monday the total will have been reduced to less than 100. Last year's total to go to the tax sale was 324, with an upset price of $47,539. Of this total, thirty-three parcels were sold at an upset price of $3,770. The other 201 went to the city to be placed on the lands department's sales list.

If property is redeemed tomorrow as it has been redeemed during the past few days, I fully expect that the list to go to the sale will show a material reduction," Mr. Smith stated. "The arrears of taxes under the ten-year consolidated plan have been completed."

Today the city treasurer's office will remain open from 9 o'clock in the morning until 1 o'clock noon, and from 2 o'clock in the afternoon to 5 o'clock. This is being done in order to give everyone a chance to pay their taxes before the penalty comes into effect on Monday. Yesterday was the busiest day so far for the collection of taxes. No figure is available yet as to how much money has been received owing to the fact that all receipts have not yet been posted.

The annual tax sale of property will be held in the Council Chamber at 10 o'clock Monday morning. Mr. Smith will auction the property, which will be sold to the highest bidder.

OVERTURES MADE FOR BRITISH-U.S. TREATY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—Overtures of Secretary Kellogg to the British Government for the negotiation of a new arbitration treaty to replace the twenty-year-old Root treaty, which expired June 4 of this year, have gone unanswered with the exception of the acknowledgment of his proposal. It was made known at the State Department today that the British reply has been delayed by exchange of the various Dominion Governments and that no answer is expected soon.

B.C. WILL BE REPRESENTED

Old Age Pension Board Will Be Called Into Existence to Co-operate in Pension Administration

TWO PROVINCES HAVE QUALIFIED

British Columbia will be represented on the National Old Age Pension Board, which the Dominion Department of Labor will constitute. In the formation of this body it is the desire of the Federal Government to have each province represented where an old age pension law is in effect.

As British Columbia comes under the rule, the request has been made of Hon. W. A. McKenzie, Minister of Labor for this province, to name a representative on the Dominion body. Preparatory to complying with the request, the minister has requested a conference with Mr. E. S. H. Winn, chairman of the Workmen's Compensation Board, which is the body which is charged with the carrying out of the provisions of the old age pension measure. The minister and Mr. Winn will probably meet in Vancouver over the week-end when the matter will be gone into.

The other province that is in a position to be represented in Manitoba, where the act came into effect on September 1.

Under the provisions of the act as passed by the Dominion, the provinces that have old age pension acts are obliged to provide only fifty per cent of the cost of the pension lists, while the Dominion bears the other half of the cost. The provincial authorities, are passed on for repayment of the 50 per cent to the province from which they came.

The national board, which it is proposed to create, will be charged with the duty of formulating regulations, and suggesting changes which may be deemed advisable, in the carrying out of the work of the pension system.

NOTE MADE PUBLIC BY U.S. EMBASSY

LONDON, Sept. 28.—The American note on the Anglo-French naval agreement, long waited here with profound interest, was handed to Lord Cusden, Acting Foreign Secretary, at noon today by Ambassador Houghton. It was made public tonight by the American Embassy, and the fact that it was given out from this source instead of from the Foreign Office, caused some comment. In authoritative circles it was stated that it would be impossible to say what the British Government's reaction to the note would be. Any comment, it was explained, would necessarily be a question for the Cabinet. Nevertheless, responsible quarters indicated a belief that the note did not preclude further discussion.

House of Bishops Gives Permission to Clergy to Use Revised Prayer Book

Despite Vote of House of Commons, Bishops Sanction Change—People of Parish Must Approve as Well as Clergyman in Charge—Archbishops Make Announcement

Loyalty to Principles of Church Is Essential to Be Insisted Upon

LONDON, Sept. 28.—After four days' deliberation of the House of Bishops of the Church of England at Lambeth Palace, the Archbishops of Canterbury and York tonight made their long-awaited announcement with regard to the situation created by the second rejection of the new Prayer Book by the House of Commons.

The announcement said that "during the present emergency and until further order taken, the Bishops cannot regard as inconsistent with loyalty to the principles of the Church of England for clergy to use such additions to, or deviations from, the Prayer Book of 1662 as fall within the limits of proposals approved by the House of Convocation and the Church Assembly, but must regard as inconsistent with such loyalty the use of any other deviations from, or additions to, the book of 1662."

Accordingly the Bishops, in the exercise of their legal or administrative discretion, would be guided by the proposals approved in 1928 by the House of Convocation and the Church Assembly, and will endeavor to secure that practices consistent neither with the book of 1662 nor the revised book of 1928, shall cease, the announcement stated.

B.C. GOING TO OLD COUNTRY FOR SETTLERS

Premier Tolmie Announces Government's Scheme of "Block Settlement" at Chamber Meeting

FIRST CLASS LAND WILL BE SELECTED

A clean, clear-cut, concise plan for the settlement of Britishers on the lands of this province will be presented by the British Columbia Government to the British Government possibly before the end of the present year. Hon. Dr. S. F. Tolmie, Premier of British Columbia, declared yesterday in addressing the quarterly meeting of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

Premier Tolmie said the proposal would cover the settlement of Britishers here, which the Dominion Government has been keenly interested in the pioneer stages of colonization. Exhaustive data is being prepared by the Provincial Government and will be forwarded shortly to the British authorities. The speaker intimated it was proposed to place on these lands an instructor, a pioneer of the country, to show an interest in and assist the settlers in becoming satisfied farmers.

REAL ASSETS
The settlers become real assets when they can make a living and are willing to stay here. We will first select A-1 lands, and will add other advantages of the country, shoulder to shoulder with the settlers to secure their success," Dr. Tolmie said, amid applause.

The Premier felt that by settling in blocks, where they can encourage each other and be aided by experts, the settlers on the lands to be opened by the province would not due to the cities.

Reference to the recent visits to British Columbia of the Empire Parliamentary Party and Lord Lovat, who were keenly interested in the settlement of British immigrants, was made by the Premier, who was satisfied that Lord Lovat, chairman of the Overseas Settlement Board, was convinced that the good opportunities exist for British settlement in this province.

"Lord Lovat was greatly impressed with the British spirit prevailing in British Columbia," he stated.

THOROUGH SURVEY VISITS SCHOOLS OF DOUKHOBORS

Hon. J. Hinchliffe Inspects Conditions—Enlarging Accommodation for Pupils

NELSON, Sept. 28.—Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, Minister of Education, arrived in Nelson tonight by automobile. He has been touring the Doukhobor colonies and visiting the schools at Grand Forks and Brilliant in company with Inspector P. H. Sheffield for the past few days. Hon. Mr. Hinchliffe attended the tripartite convention at Penikese. He reports conditions excellent as far as his department is concerned among the Doukhobors. At Grand Forks he saw a new school being built, and at Brilliant he viewed an addition being made to the main school there.

He discussed the educational situation with the school teachers at these points. Mr. Hinchliffe spent Thursday night at Grand Forks. This afternoon he had a brief visit in Trail, where he was met by J. H. Schofield, M.P.P.

Tomorrow he will go into conference with local educational officials. He leaves for Vancouver on Saturday.

CONSENT OF PARISH

Moreover, the Bishops regard it as a governing principle that no departure from the book of 1662 shall be permitted in public services of the church unless the people, as represented in the Parochial Church Council, or in the case of occasional offices, the parties concerned be in agreement with the incumbent of the church.

The Bishops recommend that use of the "conservative" (the canon) in the alternative Order of Holy Communion, approved both in 1927 and 1928, should only be granted provisionally and in exceptional circumstances, subject to such conditions as the Bishop may determine.

RESERVATION
The announcement continues that the Bishops will regard variations from and additions to the 1662 Order of Holy Communion, except such as a diocesan bishop may sanction in accordance with the alternative order of 1928, as irregularities, which must cease.

Finally, in view of the whole situation, the Bishops, frankly recognizing that they are not without their share of blame in the difficulties of recent years, appeal to their fellow churchmen, both clerical and lay, for loyal co-operation in this fresh endeavor to restore peace to the church, "so that the whole body may give itself with more whole-hearted devotion to the task, both at home and abroad, to which in Providence and God we are called at the present time."

WOULD REDUCE PENSION AGE

BRITISH CONSERVATIVE CONVENTION GIVES OVERWHELMING VOTE

Proposal Is to Pay Pension at Age of Sixty-Five—To Retain Basic Tax to Provide Funds

GREAT YARMOUTH, Eng., Sept. 28.—A resolution providing that pensions should be granted to persons on reaching the age of sixty-five on condition that the pensioner retire from "competitive employment" at that age, was adopted by an overwhelming majority at today's session of the annual conference of the National Union of Conservative and Unionist Associations.

At present old age pensions are granted only to persons who have attained the age of seventy years. The mover of the pensions resolution proposed that the present labor exchanges throughout the country might be abolished, and the £25,000,000 expended annually on their maintenance devoted to pensioning at the rate of $5 a week the one hundred thousand aged workers who would benefit by the resolution.

Brigadier Layman, of Salvation Army, and Family, to Be Tendered Public Farewell

Brigadier and Mrs. Layman and family will be tendered a public farewell at the Salvation Army Citadel tonight at 8 o'clock, and will leave for San Francisco by the Ruth Alexander on Sunday morning en route to Honolulu. The Brigadier, who has been the divisional commander for Southern British Columbia for over four years, has received orders to take charge of the Hawaiian Islands division. He has many friends, both old and new, in Victoria, whom he will be pleased to see at this their last meeting on Canadian soil.

Staff-Captain James Merritt will succeed Brigadier Layman at Vancouver headquarters. He is at present the divisional commander of Northern Alberta, but is well known in Victoria, having been the commanding officer here during the first three years of the Great War.

SUES FOR SUM WON IN WAGER

JOE BAYLEY BRINGS ACTION AGAINST COLWOOD RACING ASSOCIATION

Former Lightweight Champ of Canada Claims He Won $407.75 Which Remains Unpaid

Claiming $407.75 and costs, Joseph Bayley, tobacconist, who resides at the Westholme Hotel, has issued a writ in the County Court here through his solicitor, Mr. William C. Moreby, K.C., against the Colwood Park Racing Association.

The plaintiff, Bayley, claims that on August 11, 1928, he was at the clubhouse of the Colwood race meeting, and he legally deposited or placed with the defendant, its agent or servant, the sum of $10, which sum was wagered at the then prevailing odds upon the horse

"I joined the society seven years ago," said Mr. Leighton, "and I want to thank all those who have helped me during my presidency, for all they have done to make my office easier."

MR. J. H. BEATTY

Mr. J. H. Beatty spoke on "Community Service." "I do not believe that by doing a certain amount of community service that a man becomes any the worse citizen," stated Mr. Beatty, a remark which was greeted by loud cheers. "Nothing could be better than the aims of your organization," he went on to say, and pointed out that this was the day of amalgamation of all the organizations in the Empire. Amalgamation was evident in the churches and in every branch of business. He stressed the power of organization, not only for this province, but for the whole Dominion, and also for the Empire. British Columbia could have better demonstrated and better competencies, he maintained, and he went on to say that any mother in the room could excite her child's imagination by reference to the flowers of this country. Thus they could become Canadian citizens instead of going away to other countries, as was too often the case today. "Why cannot Victoria have a miniature Kew Gardens?" he asked, "since our climatic conditions are better here than in the Old Country? The whole thing depends on team work and co-operation."

Most of all, Mr. Beatty urged the need for unselfish service on the part of individual members of the organization, and he sat down amid great applause.

Mr. Beatty then presented the prizes for the year's agricultural competition.

PRIZE WINNERS

In Class A, Mr. George Little was the winner, obtaining 92 points out of 100. Mr. J. Naysmith carried off the prize for Class B with a record of 92 per cent. The prize for Class C was won by Mr. A. Tyrell.

Dr. Warnock then presented the prizes for the best garden in Victoria throughout the year. The prize of a magnificent silver cup, was won by Mr. A. Tyrell, who obtained 343 points.

Mr. George Little was awarded the second prize, receiving 316 points, and the third prize was allotted to Mr. J. Naysmith, who obtained 277 points.

Interpersed with the speeches, an excellent musical and vocal programme was given. Prominent among the entertainers were Mrs. Carter Page and Miss Ellen Brown, in a musical duet. Mrs. Rudlin and Messrs. E. T. Hughes and H. T. Brockington, obliged with a musical trio. Mr. F. Farmer sang a song, accompanied by an exceedingly clever lightning sketch. Mr. Thomas gave a recitation, and Mrs. Dowell a vocal solo. A humorous touch was supplied by Mr. William Cobbett, in a song entitled "Teaching the Girls to Swim," which was uproariously received, and Miss Cooper was very popular in a sword dance and Highland fling, in which she was accompanied by Piper John Cameron.

Judicial Decisions Are Placed on Record in Supreme Court of B.C. at Victoria

T. Lloyd Finlayson Must Serve Additional Three Months in Jail—Lee Lum Given One Month

T. Lloyd Finlayson, who on Tuesday was sentenced by Magistrate George Jay to three months' imprisonment on a charge of securing by false pretences an ivory mirror and tray, was yesterday given an additional term of three months, to commence at the expiration of the first sentence.

The accused was arraigned before His Honor yesterday on a charge of by false pretences and with intent to defraud, inducing Lee So, a Chinese, on September 24, to make a valuable security, a bank cheque, in favor of T. L. Finlayson, for $6.60, drawn upon the Royal Bank of Canada, Douglas Street branch.

Finlayson elected summary trial, and admitted his guilt. He was sentenced to three months in prison.

JUDGMENT DELIVERED

Handing down judgment in the case of Lee Lum, convicted of stealing a number of articles, of under the value of $10, from Mrs. S. E. Jones, proprietress of the Pall Mall Hotel, Magistrate Jay sentenced the accused to one month's imprisonment.

"Defence counsel has asked that Lee Lum be fined instead of sent to jail. However, I cannot see that that would be the proper way to dispose of the case. The accused was in a position of trust, he has reached the age of discretion, and it was not a case of sudden temptation, for he had taken a number of articles from time to time."

DANGEROUS PRECEDENT

"The object of punishment is that it shall not only be borne by an individual, but it shall also be an object lesson to others who might be tempted to do wrong. To impose a fine would mean that the punishment would not fall on the person responsible for the theft. The imposition of a fine in this case would be a very dangerous precedent and example for the court to establish. I will, however, take into consideration that this is the first time the accused has been in trouble. He will be sentenced to one month," His Honor said.

The statutory charge preferred against Joseph Owendine was dismissed after the evidence in the case had been presented.

A fine of $5 was imposed on Dan Butler, who pleaded guilty to failing to bring his automobile to a full stop upon entering an arterial highway.

An Aberdonian whilst bathing, had got into difficulties, and a life-buoy was thrown him.

He had already been under twice, and just before going down for the third time shouted: "Is there any charge for the use of this?"

sympathetic support and more if possible," he concluded, amid cheers.

VOTE OF THANKS

Mr. J. L. Beckwith, in moving a hearty vote of thanks to the Premier, said, "We always enjoy listening to Dr. Toimie, for he always tells us something practical. In him we have a warm friend, and one who will do all he can for Victoria."

In seconding the motion, Mr. J. O. Cameron believed the support of Dr. Toimie would result in greater public interest in the Commerce work, and an increase in membership.

President P. B. Fowler, who presided, paid tribute to Hon. Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald, of the British Columbia Court of Appeal, who was a luncheon guest, for the address he delivered at the Pacific Foreign Trade convention recently in Los Angeles. The consensus in the South was that His Lordship's discourse was the most brilliant address ever delivered in Los Angeles.

PROHIBITION WAVE SPREADS TO JAPAN

TOKIO, Sept. 28.—Prohibition has become a live issue in Japan, and 6,000 advocates of a national dry law recently paraded through the streets of Tokyo carrying paper lanterns, flags and streamers decorated with slogans favoring their cause and chanting the song of social reform called "Who Forgets the National Peril?" It was one of the largest demonstrations of its kind that the nation's capital has ever witnessed.

A dozen well-known Japanese labor and social leaders led the demonstration, among them Tokiko Kagawa, who had just returned from Kure, where he helped lead a conference on applied Christianity.

The parade was among the first in a national campaign in many of the larger cities of Japan to induce citizens to adopt a "sakeless day." It was for prohibition for persons under twenty-five years of age, and other gradual reforms in the direction of total prohibition.

A London errand-boy was crossing Hyde Park with a dressmaker's dummy hugged to his breast, when an urchin shouted out to him, "Urry up, Romeo, 'er father's after yer."

During the leisurely progress of one of the recent wars in China one side had a general captured.

The army which had lost the general volunteered to exchange four majors for him.

"No," replied the representative of the other side, "my instructions are that we cannot return your general for anything less than a dozen tins of condensed milk."

TO TAKE CHARGE OF HAWAIIAN DIVISION

Brigadier Layman, of Salvation Army, and Family, to Be Tendered Public Farewell

Brigadier and Mrs. Layman and family will be tendered a public farewell at the Salvation Army Citadel tonight at 8 o'clock, and will leave for San Francisco by the Ruth Alexander on Sunday morning en route to Honolulu. The Brigadier, who has been the divisional commander for Southern British Columbia for over four years, has received orders to take charge of the Hawaiian Islands division. He has many friends, both old and new, in Victoria, whom he will be pleased to see at this their last meeting on Canadian soil.

Staff-Captain James Merritt will succeed Brigadier Layman at Vancouver headquarters. He is at present the divisional commander of Northern Alberta, but is well known in Victoria, having been the commanding officer here during the first three years of the Great War.

MR. J. H. BEATTY

Mr. J. H. Beatty spoke on "Community Service." "I do not believe that by doing a certain amount of community service that a man becomes any the worse citizen," stated Mr. Beatty, a remark which was greeted by loud cheers. "Nothing could be better than the aims of your organization," he went on to say, and pointed out that this was the day of amalgamation of all the organizations in the Empire. Amalgamation was evident in the churches and in every branch of business. He stressed the power of organization, not only for this province, but for the whole Dominion, and also for the Empire. British Columbia could have better demonstrated and better competencies, he maintained, and he went on to say that any mother in the room could excite her child's imagination by reference to the flowers of this country. Thus they could become Canadian citizens instead of going away to other countries, as was too often the case today. "Why cannot Victoria have a miniature Kew Gardens?" he asked, "since our climatic conditions are better here than in the Old Country? The whole thing depends on team work and co-operation."

Most of all, Mr. Beatty urged the need for unselfish service on the part of individual members of the organization, and he sat down amid great applause.

Mr. Beatty then presented the prizes for the year's agricultural competition.

PRIZE WINNERS

In Class A, Mr. George Little was the winner, obtaining 92 points out of 100. Mr. J. Naysmith carried off the prize for Class B with a record of 92 per cent. The prize for Class C was won by Mr. A. Tyrell.

Dr. Warnock then presented the prizes for the best garden in Victoria throughout the year. The prize of a magnificent silver cup, was won by Mr. A. Tyrell, who obtained 343 points.

Mr. George Little was awarded the second prize, receiving 316 points, and the third prize was allotted to Mr. J. Naysmith, who obtained 277 points.

Interpersed with the speeches, an excellent musical and vocal programme was given. Prominent among the entertainers were Mrs. Carter Page and Miss Ellen Brown, in a musical duet. Mrs. Rudlin and Messrs. E. T. Hughes and H. T. Brockington, obliged with a musical trio. Mr. F. Farmer sang a song, accompanied by an exceedingly clever lightning sketch. Mr. Thomas gave a recitation, and Mrs. Dowell a vocal solo. A humorous touch was supplied by Mr. William Cobbett, in a song entitled "Teaching the Girls to Swim," which was uproariously received, and Miss Cooper was very popular in a sword dance and Highland fling, in which she was accompanied by Piper John Cameron.

Mr. Percy Williams, Who Won Fame for Canada at Olympic Games, to Visit Here October 10

PROGRAMME FOR EVENT PLANNED

Mr. Percy Williams, of Vancouver, Canada's sprinter, who started the sporting world recently by capturing the 100-metre and 200-metre races at the Olympic sports at Amsterdam, will visit Victoria on Wednesday, October 10, under the auspices of the Victoria Kinsmen Club.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce is co-operating with the Kinsmen Club in planning an extensive programme of entertainment for Mr. Williams during his one-day visit here. At a meeting of the directors of the Junior Chamber and representatives of the Kinsmen Club held yesterday, a joint central committee, composed of Mr. Ainslee Helmcken, as chairman and Mr. Walter Miles, president of the Kinsmen Club, and Mr. William T. Straith, head of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, was appointed to complete arrangements for the reception and welcome.

Mr. Williams will arrive in Victoria early Wednesday morning, October 10, from the Mainland, and will be taken on an automobile tour of the city during the morning. At noon he will be the honor guest at a luncheon of the Canadian Club of Victoria, and Premier S. P. Toole will be invited to present him with a medal.

A big sports meet will be held in the afternoon at the Willows Park, where Victoria's best sprinters will compete against Mr. Williams in a 100-metre race. A number of athletic events will be run off.

The committee arranging the programme is anxious that all the children possible witness the events at the Willows, and efforts will be made to have the school children released from school not later than 2:30 p.m. on that day, to permit their attendance at the Willows grounds.

Mr. Williams will be honored by the Kinsmen Club at a dinner meeting in the evening, following which he will attend the big frolic which the Kinsmen are holding at the Crystal Garden, commencing at 9 o'clock.

U.S. DISLIKES NAVAL ACCORD

WASHINGTON SENDS NOTE TO BRITAIN AND FRANCE ON PROPOSAL MADE

Will Not Consent to Agreement Affecting United States—Reasons Stated

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—"The Government of the United States feels that no useful purpose would be served by accepting as a basis of discussion the Franco-British proposal," an American identic note to the two powers, made public tonight by the State Department, said.

"The American Government has no objection to any agreement between France and Great Britain which these two countries think will be to their advantage and in the interest of limitation of armaments, but naturally can not consent that such an agreement should be applied to the United States."

Specifically the American objection to the Franco-British accord was based on the contention that it would restrict only types of ships "peculiarly suited to the needs of the United States," and leave unlimited combat ships of great value to any nation having widely distributed fueling bases or great merchant marine tonnage.

The note was marked throughout by a sharpness in tone and frankness in stating the American viewpoint that plainly indicated irritation in Washington over the Franco-British procedure.

LONDON, Sept. 28.—It is not considered that the American note to Great Britain regarding the naval compromise between Great Britain and France precludes the possibility of further discussion, it was stated in authoritative circles tonight. It was impossible to say at present whether any reply would be called for or what the reaction to the note would be. Any comment is necessarily a question for the cabinet and the note concerns not one, but a number of departments, it was stated.

In the old days girls had to mind their P's and Q's. Nowadays they pay more attention to their nose and eyes.

Backwoods Boys on Trip

MORE good than a row of medals pinned on them is the value three young lads from the backwoods of Ontario will derive from a wonderful week spent in Toronto. These three boys are: Rene Thibault, aged fourteen years, French-Canadian, from Rainey, George Kingston, a little six-year-old Indian of Wye, and John Paul Paquette, French-Canadian of Escher, aged sixteen years. They are ardent pupils of the Canadian Pacific Railway travelling school car, and are up to the eyes in knowledge of the school on wheels the week it spends in each month on a siding in their section of the North. Their teacher, Mr. McNally, chose three boys to spend a week in Toronto and the Canadian National Exhibition, as guests of Premier Ferguson, the boys of the entrance class of the Normal School, and the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Border Cities Will Vote on Proposal For Amalgamation

TORONTO, Sept. 28.—Windsor, Ford City, Walkerville, Sandwich and Riverside, towns and cities along the Detroit River and commonly grouped under the name "Border Cities," will vote at their forthcoming municipal elections on a plebiscite calling for their amalgamation into one city. If the recommendations of J. A. Ellis, director of the Bureau of Municipal Affairs, are accepted. If his recommendations are approved and the voters favor the plan, the Walkerville town hall would become the civic building and the name of the new city would be chosen by Viscount Willingdon, Governor-General of Canada.

In his report on the proposal, Mr. Ellis states that the new municipality would have a population of 105,273 and an assessed area of 10,518 acres.

GAS EXPLOSION AT PICCADILLY CIRCUS

LONDON, Sept. 28.—Piccadilly Circus, London's famous pinwheel traffic centre, was thrown into confusion last evening at the homeward rush hour by a violent underground gas explosion. Five workers employed in an excavation for a new tube station were injured and taken to hospital.

All traffic was disorganized for some time, but the subway itself was not affected.

WIDELY-KNOWN EDITOR IS DEAD

MR. JOHN ROBINSON ROBINSON'S LONG ILLNESS ENDS IN HIS DEATH

For Decades Editor of Toronto Telegram—Notable Figure in Journalism

TORONTO, Sept. 28.—John Robinson Robinson, editor of The Toronto Evening Telegram, died this morning at his summer home in Beaverton, Mr. Robinson, who was sixty-six years old, had been seriously ill for some months. Although his life was despaired of last March, he rallied in the summer, only to suffer a relapse.

The well-known editor had suffered from a heart ailment for several years, but it was not until the spring that he was confined to his home here. At this time doctors ceased to hold out hopes for his recovery, but a rally rekindled the hopes of his family and friends.

Improving gradually, Mr. Robinson was able to go to his home in Beaverton in July, and during the summer continued to vary from time to time until last week, when he grew worse. Mr. Robinson is survived by his widow; one son, Chief Justice, Mrs. Judith Robinson, and Mrs. E. A. Baler, all of Toronto. Six grandchildren also survive.

Mr. Robinson came to Toronto when it was a small town and saw it grow into a great modern city. Upon its destinies his grasp of public affairs, his sound convictions and his vigorous presentation of his views had great influence. His defiance of what in his eyes was considered wrong was courageous and regardless of consequences. His writings dealt with persons and things rather than with abstractions.

POTATO GROWERS DECLARE CHOICE

Fraser Valley Farmers Elect A. Harvey for Market Commissioner—Minister Favors

CLOVERDALE, Sept. 28.—A. Harvey, Vancouver, was elected commissioner to take the place of George Challenger, P. Sinclair and J. A. Catherwood on the potato growers' Mainland board of direction at a mass meeting of potato growers held in the Surrey Athletic Hall, Cloverdale, on Thursday night. Mr. Harvey was the broker who formerly acted for the committee of direction.

He will be assisted by an advisory board of five members, one member from each of the following districts: The Delta, Surrey, Langley, Chilliwack, Annesley, Matsqui-Sumas and Richmond-Pitt Meadows. Hon. William Aikman, Minister of Agriculture, intimated that the choice made by the growers would be favorably considered by F. M. Black, chairman of the Interior fruit and vegetable committee of direction. Commenting on the duties of the board of direction, he said that according to the act it was no part of the committee's business to sell and it should do nothing to prevent a farmer from selling his potatoes where he liked, provided that he complied with the act as regards his levies, paid his licence and adhered to prices. Those who had not been marketing their own stuff had not been getting their rights. Their hands had not been tied.

Mr. Black had told him that it was the farmers' business to sell their own stuff. He was glad that the growers were not in favor of the act, as he did not consider that it had a fair chance.

ALLEGED SUICIDE

SANTA CLARA, Cal., Sept. 28.—Mrs. Cora Mead, fifty-two, wife of James Lucas Mead, Chicago millionaire, was found shot to death here yesterday in her home on the poultry farm, which for years she had operated under the name of Mrs. L. A. Thornwell. Death was caused by a bullet wound in the head. The body was discovered by police who were told by a telephone girl that Mrs. Mead had screamed into the receiver that she was being murdered. After questioning L. A. Thornwell, who was known as the woman's husband, the authorities decided Mrs. Mead had killed herself and had attempted to cast suspicion on Thornwell, who had been separated from her for about a year.

The subtle revenge for a scorned woman was the explanation given of the circumstances surrounding the death of Mrs. Mead, said to be the foot of the pole last evening.

A NON-POLITICAL BODY

The decision of Mr. R. H. Pooley, the Attorney-General, to do away with political interference with the Provincial Police force means the institution of a long-needed reform. In effect he has told Colonel J. H. McMullin, the Superintendent of the Provincial Police, that the control of that force is wholly in his hands, that the Government will not interfere in the matter of appointments and dismissals, that no politics will enter into any of the police ramifications and that the object in view is to secure the building of the most efficient body of men for seeing that the law is observed in the unorganized districts of the province and within those municipalities which avail themselves of the services of the provincial force.

In the past, and particularly in recent years, there has been too much interference from the political aspect with the Provincial Police. That body has been made a medium for the distribution of party patronage and for the carrying out of party purposes. So long as this happened it could never enjoy the respect to which any branch of law guardianship is entitled. It could never inspire the feeling that it was above fear or favor, while party politics intervened. The conditions which tended to bring the Provincial Police into disrepute have been removed by Mr. Pooley, who, in the action he has taken, will earn encomiums from everyone in the province who respects the law and who wishes to see order maintained. In Colonel McMullin, the Provincial Police have an excellent head and the right kind of executive. He can be trusted to do everything that is necessary to promote efficiency, now that the trammels of political interference have been removed. Mr. Pooley has adopted not only a wise course, but the only course which could commend itself to an Attorney-General wholly concerned with the administration of the processes of the law in the scales of even-handed justice.

THE CASE FOR PROTECTION

The Federal Government is averse to the anti-dumping duties, because it is pandering to the low tariff interests of the Prairie Provinces. Its attitude, however, is likely to be changed because it is faced with the fact that the fruit industry of the Dominion has been forced into a parlous condition. Even such an advocate of the low tariff as The Manitoba Free Press says "The dumping provision is regarded by public opinion as proper; and its enforcement during the Summer season would meet with no objections from the fruit-consuming public." Here is an admission from the prairies that some Canadian industry, other than grain growing, is deserving of protection. Even among some of the low tariff interests the force of economic events is making itself felt. Of the situation that has arisen in connection with the fruit industry The Montreal Gazette says:

"There was a four million dollar increase in fruit imports in 1927-1928, and after this season's experience the figure is bound to be substantially higher. Imports in other lines have also risen steadily because of unfair competition, not necessarily in the dumping of surplus products, but in the underselling of Canadian commodities with the output of European factories where long hours and low wages prevail. One kind of unfair competition is just as ruinous as another and affords just as good a ground for the protection of home industries. The case for the Okanagan fruit growers is a strong one, but its strength cannot be admitted without acknowledging the soundness of the general principle that wherever and whenever Canadian industries are faced with unfair competition, those industries, the labor employed in them, and the communities dependent on them, ought to be protected."

NITROGEN FROM THE AIR

Among the technical achievements arising from the war the extraction of nitrogen from the air was one of the most remarkable. Not long ago an international conference was held on the subject; the place of assembly was a steamer in the Adriatic. At this conference scientists from all over the world united and exchanged ideas. The papers which they read dealt with synthetic nitrates from all aspects. Thirty years ago Sir William Crookes predicted that if nitrogen fixation was not discovered the population could not be fed much beyond 1931. The process was discovered and it is estimated that at the end of the current year at least 1,450,000 tons of nitrogen will have been withdrawn from the atmosphere.

Holland takes first place in nitrogen consumption; her wheat yield is 23 bushels per acre above the European average. It is not suggested that all countries can reach the Dutch level of production; each has its peculiar natural and economic characteristics which may prevent it from doing so; but that the cultivable areas of the world are capable of absorbing enormous quantities of nitrogen there is no doubt. A requirement of over 3,000,000 tons per annum within ten years from now is the considered opinion of The London Observer. It is certain that if famine should ever again menace any part of the world, it is not because the scientific means of averting it are lacking; certain also that because of nitrogen from the air sufficient food could be found for many more than the new number of mouths expected to come into the world in the next few years.

Britain, for instance, is not only now self-supporting in nitrates but has a surplus for export; and, together with nitrates, other fertilizers are combined to suit the varying nature of the soil. Grassland can be artificially stimulated with nitrogen, and by its aid Spring crops can be produced in the Autumn. This discovery, coinciding with the recently acquired knowledge that young grass is concentrated food, will have a revolutionary effect upon the whole economy of agriculture, by increasing the number of beasts that may be fed per acre. It is evident, too, that synthetic nitrogen will lower the farmer's cost of production. The practical results from nitrogen application are already sufficient to justify the conviction that a new era has opened for agriculture, an era when it will attain a proficiency never before known in history.

A FREE STATE TARIFF

For several years past Ford motor cars have been made at a factory established at Cork in Ireland, an industry which developed a payroll of from $25,000 to $30,000 a week. The chief market for these cars is in Britain. The Ford motor works are now being transferred to Dagenham, in Essex, because the Free State has built up a tariff barrier against Britain. Under the Government at Dublin there is now a tariff of 22-9-9 per cent on the value of every motor car constructed at Cork and shipped to Britain. This tariff has been found too great, and consequently a large part of the Ford activities have been transferred to British soil. It was intended to continue production at Cork. Attention was to have been concentrated on the construction of cars for the European market, provided the Free State would have allowed their untaxed admission into Great Britain and Northern Ireland. Under such a dispensation there would have been assurance of 6,000 men being employed in Cork with an annual wage bill of $10,000,000. The matter of arranging a compromise has not advanced. Those who control the Ford output in the British Isles have evidently become restless and the industry is gradually being removed from Cork. Its disappearance will be a severe blow to that community, but it is one of the expected reactions of the Free State policy in engaging in discrimination against its best customer within the Empire.

An admission which, if widely accepted, may have the saving grace of doing away with a lot of dogmatism in scientific utterance is credited to Dr. Swan, the director of the Bartel Foundation of the Franklin Institute of Philadelphia. He says: "Science heretofore could ways felt that everything that happened could be traced to some cause, which, in turn, always had a definite effect. But now we know that the results of many purely physical phenomena, such as the transmission of heat, depend upon what science inadequately calls laws of probability, which is just another name for chance or luck." Dr. Swann, for instance, declares that while we can "to some small extent" discern the processes of life "once the start has been made," we know nothing about the origin or beginnings of life or of life's forces. "The molecule has smashed to smithereens our old time ideas about time and space."

A BOWL OF ROSES

There is no woman who can place
 A bowl of roses on a shelf
 Without an inward, upward urge
 To be more beautiful herself.
 There is no woman who can keep
 Disorder reigning in a room
 Where chastely, fresh cut roses shed
 The light and fragrance of their bloom.
 Something there is of sun and wind—
 Of rain, and clean bright Summer air
 Held captive when a bowl is filled
 With roses—and placed anywhere—
 That works a charm on ugliness,
 And lightens all dark-cornered gloom;
 A bowl of roses can perform
 A miracle in any room.
 —Grace Noll Crowell, in The Windsor Magazine.

If we have been comforting ourselves by the assurance that our faults are compensated for by our virtues, then it is time for us to be disillusioned. Character is not to be chopped up into any such bits of good and bad. For better or worse, it is a single organic whole.—Frederick M. Eliot.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

Notwithstanding the successful and beneficial experiments of the late Luther Burbank, there are some elements or things in this world that cannot be mixed without incurring a risk of lamentable consequences. Human experience has demonstrated that politics and religion cannot be mixed without precipitating a social explosion. The Established Church of England is a political as well as a religious institution, for it is to a certain extent under the dominion of Parliament, and there is something that closely approximates a holy war in the Old Land. Many persons who never were suspected of being deeply interested in religion have buckled on their armor and are taking an active and aggressive part in the bitter verbal conflict.

There is no alliance between church and state in the United States. The public affairs of the republic are at least nominally conducted on a strictly secular basis. But there is at the present time a state of holy war prevailing in the United States. One of the leaders in the political contest, who is a woman as well as an official of the Republican Government, in the course of one of her bitter speeches has declared that there has been no attempt to mix politics and religion, and that if politics and religion have been mixed the mixer is Mr. Al. Smith, the nominee of the Democrats for the presidency.

No one can read the speeches or listen over the radio to the speeches being delivered by the politicians without reaching the conclusion that politics and religion have been mixed in the presidential campaign. Not only have politics and religion been mixed, but the mixture has been fired with strong doses of "liquor," and the resulting brew seems to be of a highly explosive character. The old political issues are dead, because in such fundamental matters as the tariff and protection for the farmers there is no difference between the platform of the Republicans and the platform of the Democrats. There is nothing of interest to quarrel about, and in a real political campaign there must be something of interest to quarrel about or there can be no enthusiasm. So the vital issue is not a political issue at all. It is a religious and social issue. It is, shall Al. Smith, a Catholic and a "wet," be elected to the presidency of the United States?

This is the first time in the history of the United States that such an issue has been raised. The leaders of political opinion, or perhaps it would be more correct to say, the leaders of the political parties, have in the past been very careful to guard against raising such an issue. They knew that it was dangerous from a party point of view to attempt to mix politics and religion. When ordinary political issues are the sole issues, almost any experienced party politician can with a certain degree of accuracy estimate the results of a campaign. When religion becomes an issue in the campaign, and a dash of spirit is added thereto, no one can predict what may happen.

Mrs. Willebrandt, an attorney employed by the Coolidge Government to lead in the prosecution of bootleggers and apparently the principal campaigner for the Republicans, says Governor Smith is responsible for the holy war. In a certain sense that statement may be true enough, for if Mr. Smith had declined the Democratic nomination there would have been no religious issue. But the Governor of New York State doubtless thought that by reason of his birth and his public record he had established a claim or a right to the presidency if he could get it. He took his stand on the provision of the constitution which declares that religious belief shall not be a barrier to any public office within the gift of the people. The position of chief executive had been filled by men who were not connected with any church and who professed no religious belief. Why should limitations be imposed upon the citizenship of a man who professes a particular religious belief?

If a holy war has not been proclaimed, why did Mrs. Willebrandt address a meeting of more than two thousand clergymen of a certain denomination? If no holy war has been proclaimed, why was a minister of a certain church who declared his purpose of voting for Al. Smith compelled to resign his pastorate? To be sure the holy war has not developed into an open conflict all along the religious line. Some of the churches have sufficient worldly wisdom to keep out of it. If The Colonist were an American newspaper, we would have sufficient discretion to say nothing whatever about it. But it is wars are of deep human interest, and a holy war is a fathom deep in human interest. As outsiders who thus far have succeeded fairly well in keeping politics divorced from religion, we are interested in the result of the election in the United States, for that result will be the establishment of an important political precedent.

THE COASTS OF MORNING
 The air was cool, caressing,
 Too sweet for sleep too sweet,
 When up the coasts of morning
 I saw the night retreat.
 The little leaves were shining
 Along the camphor hedge,
 The river's golden ripples
 Danced up each rocky ledge.
 At sight of waking glory,
 Like long-caged bird released,
 My spirit's wings were lifted
 To greet the glowing East,
 What once was captive soaring
 As free as wind and tide,
 When up the coasts of morning
 I saw the sunrise glide.

FRUIT SITUATION REPORTED BETTER

Season Promises to Be More Profitable for Growers of Okanagan Valley

The situation as far as the fruit farmers of the Okanagan are concerned appears to be steadily improving, and there is fair promise that this season will be fairly profitable for them according to the information which the Department of Agriculture has been able to obtain. Dr. D. Warnock, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, has just returned from a trip through the interior of the province, when, among other things, he looked into the needs of various agricultural industries with a view to ascertaining just what the difficulties were with which these bodies have to contend.

Early frosts in the Province of Ontario have caused damage in some lines of production in that province which will be of advantage to the British Columbia farmer, and in this connection Dr. Warnock intimated tomatoes and tobacco.

It is estimated that the frosts in Ontario have done damage to the extent of half a million dollars in one district alone.

APPLE SITUATION
 With respect to the apple situation, with a good crop on the prairies, there is an improvement in the buying conditions which will work to the advantage of the Okanagan growers.

It is pointed out also that in the interior of the Province of British Columbia itself there is very marked activity in the mining areas, with the result that a demand has been created for the fruit which is produced within easy reach.

There is found a market for the apples which may not be exactly up to the mark for export, but which are nevertheless perfectly good for the local market, and which is giving a good outlet for this quality of fruit.

In addition to this, Dr. Warnock pointed out that the by-products of the orchards in the form of undersized fruit and culls will be looked after apparently quite well this season through the medium of the evaporating factories and other outlets of this class of fruit.

With respect to the prices which have been set for fruit which is sold in the local market, or about to go on the schedule of prices effective for September 26 and later, for McIntosh $50 to $55 a ton in bulk, and other varieties are priced according to the following schedule:

These prices given above are wholesale prices. The retail prices are 10 cents a box higher.

While the situation has improved somewhat, it is still to be said that the fruit growers, there is still on the part of that section of the interior producers an earnest desire to be protected against the dumping of American grown fruit.

In this connection steps are being taken now in the interior to have a representative committee of the fruit growing sections of the country visit the Prairies and seek a measure of rapprochement between the two parties to the fruit trade, the growers and the consumers, so that there may be joint action agreed upon.

It is felt that there should be no antagonism between the two parties, and that this could be removed by a frank representation of the position of affairs by the fruit growers. The wish is simply to tide over the period during which the American fruit is placed on the market in Canada at a ridiculous price, against which no legitimate grower can compete.

SUPPORT FOR CHAMBER HERE IS ENLISTED

Directors of Chamber of Commerce Present Report Showing Body's Activities During Last Period

JUNIOR BRANCH CONGRATULATED

The need of increased support to the Victoria Chamber of Commerce both financially and otherwise, was stressed by the directors of the Chamber, in their report which was read by Mr. George I. Warren, managing secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, at the quarterly general meeting of the organization held yesterday.

"Past achievements show justification for the seeking of this support," the report stated, "and the Chamber has arrived at a time when the business interests of the community should realize more fully that the activities of importance and possible accomplishment of the Chamber of Commerce are limited to the extent of its membership interest and the financial support given by those concerned with the city's growth and welfare."

"Those members most intimately engaged in one or more activity will readily support the claim previously referred to, realizing only too well the development possible and consequent co-operation, and the support of the citizens and business community of Victoria joined together for the upbuilding of the district."

IMPORTANT MATTERS

The Chamber directors reported that since the last quarterly meeting many important matters had engaged the Chamber's attention, and the Summer season, unlike those of previous years, when activities were usually somewhat curtailed, had proved one of considerable activity.

"Committee work and interest has been well maintained and business coming before regular meetings of your board has been of more than usual importance and account," the report continued.

"Congratulations to the members of the Junior branch are certainly in order. Their activities have been many and varied, and though it was never intended that this report should include the many details, well worth mention is the outstanding success attending their efforts in organizing and carrying through to such a success, Victoria's 24th of May celebration this year. Their application to the city, in this connection, was fully endorsed by the directors of the senior branch. The closest relations exist between the senior and junior branches, directors' meetings of each being attended by the other's representative, with a view to the maintenance of a common purpose and a continuity and consistency, so essential to the success of the whole Chamber."

WEST COAST ROAD

"The results attending the persistent efforts looking to the construction of the road along the west coast of the Island were indeed gratifying, and all are aware of the success attending the ground breaking ceremony at Jordan River, arranged in celebration of the commencement of the work of this construction. It is hoped that this work will be pushed on to early completion."

Considerable attention has been given to the contemplated establishment of a ferry service between Salt Spring Island and the Saanich Peninsula. The Junior Chamber of Commerce sponsored this movement and after considerable hard work and effort it is expected that an early announcement of a definite nature in respect to this service will be made.

"Port development and port affairs here engaged considerable attention and with every indication of increasing trade and shipping a port committee has been appointed to study the immediate needs preparatory to problems which are bound to develop with the growth of this port. A committee appointed from this organization appeared and gave evidence before the commission appointed to investigate the proposed extension of the wharves at the port. This question is of the utmost importance to shipping interests using this port."

INDUSTRIAL EXPANSION

"It is fitting to here refer to our industrial expansion with the recent opening of the new worsted mill, the completion of the grain terminals at the outer docks, and the expansion of the Sidney Road and Paper Mills. Members of the Chamber may well feel satisfied at the results attending efforts of the organization on behalf of the industrial development in the community."

"Among the leading activities of the Chamber during the past quarter should be mentioned the following:

"1. The reception and entertainment of the 1,320 national credit men, and the more recent visit of 950 American railway ticket agents.
 "2. Aviation affairs and aerial development.
 "3. Opposition to customs regulations affecting tourists entering Canada.
 "4. Extension of lumber assembly plant and utilization of oil tanks at the Ogden Point pier.
 "5. Change of position of the ferry landing at Mill Bay.
 "6. Fish conservation.
 "7. Legislation affecting transient traders and other proposed changes in legislation received careful attention.
 "8. The matter of the proposed erection of a flume along the Cowichan River.
 "9. The industrial group of the Chamber has several proposals for the establishment of a motion picture industry in this city under consideration, as well as several matters of importance affecting the industrial development of the district."

"Interest in the affairs of the Island generally has been maintained, and the organization was well represented at the recent convention of the Associated Island Boards of Trade at Qualicum."

Singapore Base Contract Given To London Firm

LONDON, Sept. 28.—The British Admiralty announced last night that the contract for construction of the new dockyard at Singapore has been awarded to Messrs. Sir John Jackson, Ltd., of London. The contract calls for completion of the work in seven years.

The works are to be situated on the old strait separating the islands of Singapore from the mainland and the site has been specially chosen with regard to British naval requirements and engineering necessities. It is estimated that the naval port of the whole Singapore scheme will cost £7,500,000, which is the figure submitted to the House of Commons and included in the naval estimate for 1928.

ROME, Sept. 28.—The marriage of Gene Tunney, retired heavyweight champion, and Miss Mary Josephine Lauder, of Greenwich, Conn., will if Miss Lauder agrees, take place in Rome instead of at Sorrento, in the Bay of Naples. This was practically decided today, a few hours after Tunney had come here to sought the necessary official church dispensations connected with a wedding on such short notice and the fact that the bride-elect is Protestant.

Church Funds Saved by Amalgamation of Congregations, Victoria Presbytery Learns

SECOND MISSION BOAT PLANNED

Rev. J. P. Westman, pastor of Centennial Church, of this city, was elected the chairman of the Victoria Presbytery of the United Church, which closed its annual meeting at Nanaimo at noon yesterday, after a busy one-day session. This was the first meeting held in the Coal City since union, three years ago, and was attended by thirty-one ministers and twelve laymen. The hospitality of St. Andrew's United Church, where the Presbytery was convened, was extended at the supper given on Thursday evening by the ladies of the congregation in the new church hall, and at which the minister, Rev. F. W. Anderson, recently of Port Hope, welcomed the delegates.

The retiring chairman, Rev. W. A. Guy, of this city, was assisted in the devotional service at the opening of the Presbytery by Revs. W. A. Alexander and R. B. Brown, while the prayerful sympathy of the members was extended to Rev. William Elliot, a retired minister, on the loss of his wife. Resolutions of appreciation were also passed regarding Rev. Dr. C. E. Manning and Rev. Dr. J. H. Edmondson, who died recently; both of them national executive secretaries of home missions. Rev. Thomas Keyworth was re-elected secretary, and Rev. H. J. Amalgamation effective.

The work of the United Church in Victoria, and Vancouver Island was reviewed and found to be in a very satisfactory condition, as a result of the amalgamation of Presbyterian congregations of Courtenay, Cumberland, Ladysmith, Duncan, Sidney and Oak Bay, these churches, these points being now entirely self-supporting, with a consequent saving of nearly $4,500 to church funds.

Services in the Cowichan district will be maintained during the winter. Gabriola Island will receive a service monthly. Rev. Robert Aylward was appointed to Pender Island. The Presbytery recommended that the national executive grant $1,500 for a parsonage at Ganges Harbor.

SECOND BOAT WANTED

A report of a survey of the West Coast was given by Rev. C. E. Motte, of Barnfield, who had visited in his mission boat, the Broadcaster, twenty-two points along the West and North of the Island. Rev. Dr. G. A. Wilson, home missionary superintendent, gave additional details regarding the urgent need of this widely extended shore line. The Presbytery unanimously resolved to request the national executive to put on another mission boat, along with a medical missionary.

Inspirational features of the recent general council of the church, held at Winnipeg, were presented at the evening meeting by Rev. Dr. W. C. Wilson, Rev. Dr. W. J. Sippell and Rev. Dr. Hugh Dobson. The large place taken by laymen was commented upon. The draft of the new hymn book is to be submitted to each Presbytery for examination. By resolution the Presbytery committed itself to the spiritual challenge voiced by the general council, and it will be submitted to the general congregations. Attention was called to the change in name of the maintenance and extension fund to maintenance and missionary fund, covering the general missionary, educational and benevolent operations of the United Church.

The various committees for the year were elected with the following as conveners: Maintenance and missionary, Rev. H. Nixon; college, Rev. W. E. Harper; home missions, Rev. J. P. Westman; church property, Rev. W. A. Lee; foreign missions, Rev. W. J. Sippell; statistics, Rev. W. E. Welch; publications, Rev. Dr. Unsworth; religious education, Rev. W. A. Guy; social service, Rev. H. A. Ireland; persons, Rev. J. P. Westman; hymns, Rev. T. Keyworth; Rev. T. W. Beattie was given a letter of standing to the church authorities at Snodish, Wash.

Lieutenant-Governor To Unveil Memorial

Ceremony at Historic Leechtown in Sooke District on Monday Morning Will Commemorate Discovery of Gold on July 14, 1864

One of the most interesting episodes in Vancouver Island's history will be reviewed at the very scene of the historic event when the Historical Society on Monday morning unveils at Leechtown, in the Sooke district, a memorial to commemorate the discovery of gold there in 1864.

His Honor Lieutenant-Governor R. Randolph Bruce, who will be accompanied by his niece, Miss Helen Mackenzie, and his secretary, Mr. A. M. D. Fairbairn, will officiate at the actual unveiling, which will take place at 11 o'clock, and Mr. John Hosie, provincial architect, will give an address. In this he will recall the circumstances leading up to the organization in 1864 by Captain Robert Brown of survey parties which were sent out through the Island to search for gold; to the finding by Lieut. Peter J. Leech, R.E., and his party, of precious metal at the junction of the Leech and Sooke Rivers, and the subsequent rush of gold seekers with their impediments and the usual motley crowd of followers, who composed the busy mining camp which flourished in the Upper Sooke Valley in the mid-sixties.

TO TAKE SAME ROUTE

Traveling up to Leechtown by the Canadian National Railway coach, which leaves Point Ellice Bridge at 9 o'clock in the morning, Monday's party will traverse from Sooke Harbor very nearly the same route as that taken by Lieut. Leech and his men on the day that they found gold on the bar of the Sooke. Leech was so much impressed by his find and so anxious for the authorities to know about it in order that Vancouver Island might share with the Cariboo scene of the goldseekers' excitement, that he sent samples of his gold back to Victoria immediately by Indian messenger and at the same time dispatched a report of his discovery to his commander, Captain Brown, who with another party had by that time reached Cowichan in a similar quest.

Captain Brown's report of the discovery was followed by a stampede for the new goldfields, and for two years, as long as gold remained in paying quantities on the bar of the Leech, the place flourished. The memorial has been constructed from stones taken from the old fireplace, which was one of the last relics of the goldseekers' camp. The memorial is a handsome and picturesque bit of masonry. Set in a similar quest, a table which records that "This memorial is erected by the B.C. Historical Association to commemorate the discovery of gold on the Sooke and Leech Rivers, July 14, 1864."

MONTREAL, Sept. 28. — After traveling during the summer months a distance of over three times that from the earth to the moon, and yet having the record of being late by a matter of minutes three times only, the Trans-Canada Limited, crack flyer of the Canadian Pacific Railway, pulled out of Montreal and Vancouver yesterday on its last journey of the year in either direction. Its place during the winter is taken by the "Imperial," which leaves Montreal for the West each night.

According to Victoria office of the Employment Service of Canada, the Hudson's Bay Company's Arctic steamer Baychimo is seeking six firemen, six seamen, a cook and an assistant cook to take the vessel to England. She is at present tied up at Yarrow's Limited.

The American Mail liner President Jefferson sailed from Victoria for Victoria on Thursday afternoon with 200 passengers, according to Mr. W. M. Allen, agent. The vessel is due at Rithet piers on Monday morning, October 8.

ZONING BOARD POWER DEFINED

Several Applications Thrown Out as Result of Ruling by City's Councilors

The Zoning Board of Appeal, it has been definitely ruled by Elliott, MacLean & Shandley, councilors for the city, has no power to deal with applications for the erection of buildings within a prohibited zone. City Solicitor H. S. Pringle announced yesterday.

"They may rule on appeals against the Zoning By-Law that affect the size of the building to be erected, or matters pertaining to side yard, back yard, or frontage measurements," Mr. Pringle said. "But they may not deal with an appeal that asks permission to erect a building within a certain zone that the by-law prohibits."

Because of this ruling several appeals were thrown out at the Zoning Board's meeting yesterday afternoon, including an application to build a garage on Belleville Street for the Yellow Rose Sight-Seeing Company.

Second Narrows Bridge Termed Danger to Ships

VANCOUVER, Sept. 28.—Ships should not go through Second Narrows bridge at low tide, according to testimony of Captain A. Heurtley Reed, harbor master, who was called as a witness for the defence in the Burrard Tunnel & Bridge Company suit against the Ss. Surana, now on trial in Admiralty Court. Captain Reed was one of the principal witnesses heard this afternoon in the case which promises to occupy Mr. Justice Martin for several days yet.

Captain T. R. Gunn, pilot, was called by Mr. Martin. Gunn, K.C., and Sidney A. Smith, counsel for the defence in support of their counter claim against the Bridge Company for $77,000 damages. He told of an experience with the Ss. Norwich City, April 24 last, similar to that of the Surana. His ship, he said, was driven under the stationary span and her masts and funnel demolished by the crash while trying to pass through the bascule at low tide.

The witness testified on the strength of his experience in taking 147 ships through the Second Narrows, and declared that he had encountered more difficulty in navigating the channel since the construction of the bridge.

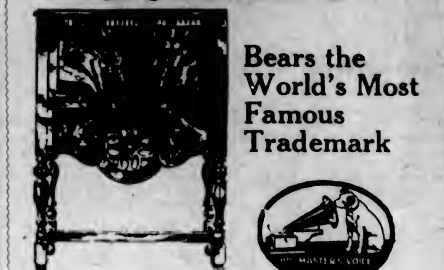

TOKIO REMEMBERS EARTHQUAKE DEAD

TOKIO, Sept. 28.—All Tokio turned aside from its work on September 1 and observed thirty seconds' silence in memory of the great earthquake which, exactly five years before, had spread a mantle of death and destruction over the city. Street cars, automobiles and all other vehicular traffic stopped and thousands bowed their heads in prayer for friends or relatives who were killed in the disaster.

The Emperor and Empress, who were spending a few weeks at their villa at Nasu, stood in meditation; Premier Tanaka attended a memorial service in the Hongo temple, located on the spot where more than 30,000 persons died within an area of a city block. Government officials gathered at several special luncheons and ate nothing but meagre rice balls and a few pickles, the same fare as on which thousands lived for many days after the quake, and a score or more public meetings were held to pay tribute to the memories of those whose days on this earth ended on the day of the quake.

Forty-six fire alarm bells joined in a blast which could be heard all over the capital. Workmen, still busy repairing roads which were twisted out of shape in the quake, laid down their shovels and stood in reverent silence. Those who lived near shrines or temples, or who had gathered there for special worship on the anniversary, heard the mellow tones of ancient bells and the traditional beating of drums as the priests conducted services for the spirits of earthquake victims.

Youthful Coat and Frock

HERE we are, still on the subject of the college maid and the boarding-school girl. But as they well know, wardrobe requirements and fashions is a tale that never is fully told. Perhaps the question that is most important just now is simply this: whether to get both a sports and a dressy coat or to spend the sum total for an all-round always wearable and decidedly comfortable fur garment. It is in the nature of the school girl to willingly limp along for the first few chilly weeks with last season's sports coat so that she may bloom in all her glory in a brand new fur one at the first big football game. And who would look at her advance for confessing to such a weakness? Happily, mislay looking and very durable fur coats are no commandment any more. They are as smart as ever, and they are as comfortable as ever. It is unwise, of course, to select an unknown novelty for whose wearability is questionable. But there are about a round dozen of pelts that might come within the coat budget, if it is stretched just a wee bit. And it is mother-like to do just that, realizing all the joy and comfort a fur coat means.

St. Luke's Church Is Scene Of Wedding

A pretty wedding took place at St. Luke's Church, Cedar Hill, on Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, when Rev. S. Ryall united in marriage Miss Phyllis May Knapp, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Knapp, Whittaker Street, to Mr. Frank Vincent Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Miller, Cedar Hill Road.

The church had been artistically decorated with masses of flowers. Mrs. J. Muldenhall and her friends being responsible for the pretty arrangements. As the bride entered the church on the arm of her father, the "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin was played by the organist, Miss Isabelle Muldenhall. Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked charming in her wedding gown of white georgette. Her net veil fell to the hem of her gown in filmy folds, and was caught to her head with a coronet of orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of Ophelia roses and white carnations. The bridesmaids, Miss Stella Knapp and Miss Marjorie Knapp, looked pretty in blue dresses and picture hats to tone. They carried bouquets of pink carnations. Mr. Percy Miller, nephew of the groom, acted as best man. During the signing of the register, the choir sang "Lead Us, Heavenly Father, Lead Us."

A reception was held at the parish hall following the ceremony, the bride and groom standing under a floral arch. They were assisted in receiving their guests by Mrs. Knapp, mother of the bride, dressed in navy blue crepe de Chine with trimmings of fawn and wearing a fawn felt hat, and by Mrs. Miller, mother of the groom, dressed in black silk and hat to match. During the evening a buffet supper was served from tables decorated with roses, stocks, and chrysanthemums. The beautiful three-tier wedding cake was cut by the bride, after which the toasts were proposed by Rev. S. Ryall and responded to by the groom. Among the many beautiful gifts received by the bride and groom was a handsome oak writing-desk and chair from the firm and employees of McDowell & Mann, where the groom is employed.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Miller left by the midnight boat for Vancouver, where the honeymoon will be spent. The bride traveled in a blue flowered chiffon dress, navy gabardine coat and hat of blue cut velvet. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Miller will reside on Finlayson Avenue.

Fashion Fancies

By Marie Belmont

Just what to do with evening wraps is the problem facing the designers at present. What with the hemline dropping down under the short skirts of the wrap and the ungraceful appearance a really long wrap would present, the question has not yet been answered satisfactorily. Some women prefer the three-quarter length wrap such as you see in the illustration. And since the hem shows all around, the long tail behind isn't so raggedy as it might be were the wrap to cover the rest of the skirt. It is of blue orchid velvet and is graceful in line and dignified in style, with its very long scarf back and its ruffled tiers. You will find it a nice, conservative model for between the seasons.

"BARBERRY BUSH"

One Girl's Marriage Problems
By KATHLEEN NORRIS

CHAPTER I

"The thing is," said Amy, rubbing the sugar bowl so firmly that her fingers suddenly bored holes through the polishing cloth, "the thing is that you're twenty-two, Bab, and I'm twenty-four. Within the next six or seven years we'll both marry, won't we?"

"We certainly will," Bab agreed fervently from the sink.

She plunged the soap-shaker into a pan of hot water, frothed it to foam, slid into it a pile of soaped plates and saucers.

"Well, then, the question merely remains—whom?" Amy summarized it triumphantly.

"And when, and why, and where, and how?" her sister added.

"Oh, well, those'll all take care of themselves," Amy said easily. "The main point is, we're not going to be old maids."

"I suppose not," Bab admitted uncertainly. "And for some reason I've been a little bit suddenly on a sharp sigh."

"But, now this is what gets me," Amy, with her air of fresh childhood interest, went on, "the thing is that you're twenty-two, Bab, and I'm twenty-four. Within the next six or seven years we'll both marry, won't we?"

"We certainly will," Bab agreed fervently from the sink.

She plunged the soap-shaker into a pan of hot water, frothed it to foam, slid into it a pile of soaped plates and saucers.

"Well, then, the question merely remains—whom?" Amy summarized it triumphantly.

"And when, and why, and where, and how?" her sister added.

"Oh, well, those'll all take care of themselves," Amy said easily. "The main point is, we're not going to be old maids."

"I suppose not," Bab admitted uncertainly. "And for some reason I've been a little bit suddenly on a sharp sigh."

Barbara Atherton laughed and answered only with a faint shrug. She swept the dish, mop, really about the receding tide of hot water in the sink, inverted the dishpan, wrung out the mop and set it on the window sill above the sink.

To the sink it was an important and romantic spot. Although actually it was a commonplace room, conventionally furnished with a checked blue and brown linoleum, with two of the plain wooden chairs that are known the country over as "kitchen chairs," and with a white stove, a white table, and a white cabinet.

Amelia Atherton from her babyhood had worn the far more appropriate title of Amy. Barbara was usually "Bab" in the family circle, but many years ago her grandmother had given her the special title of "Barberry Bush."

Old Mrs. Bush had been a dignified and beautiful figure and her motherless grand-daughters had spent much of their time with her. It was she who had given Barbara her stately name, Barbara Bush Atherton, and the nickname had followed as a matter of course.

With the aid of the name, and a mood of affection and approval and Barbara secretly loved to hear herself so called.

Since the grandmother's death the girl had kept house for their father, Professor Arthur Choate Atherton. He had been forced by poor health to go up to chair in entomology in a southern university some years earlier and had come back to Cottonwood, California, and behind her, adoring and adored, and bewildered, came Amy, consoling her for her many tumbles and inserting, beneath her castles in the air, a solid and common sense.

"If you had to marry one boy in Cottonwood, now, Bab," Amy pursued on this particular afternoon, "what would you marry?"

"One?" Amy, I'm ashamed of you! Do you mean that you think of marrying more than one?"

Amy sighed, screwing the powder box top firmly over the polishing powder.

"You know what I mean," she said.

Salient Points of the Play

Trick 3. In view of East's strength in Hearts as disclosed by his No Trump bid over North's bid of Hearts, Declarer determines to play for the establishment of the Diamond, rather than the Heart suit. Accordingly he enters Dummy with a Heart to take a Diamond finesse.

Trick 6. Diamonds being established except for the King, the declarer leads his Ace with a view to ruffing the third round if the King does not fall. The King falling, the suit is established.

Trick 7. East, by his No Trump bid is marked with the Queen of Spades. Declarer therefore puts Dummy in with the King of Spades to finesse against the Queen on the next round. If East holds four Spades, the Queen cannot be captured and the contract will be set. Game therefore depends upon the split of the trump.

where his motherless little girl had spent all their babyhood with their grandmother.

The professor, who spent his days roaming about searching for beetles and moths and parasites and his nights writing articles about them, admired his daughters enormously. Amy was clever, staid, sensible, sweet. Barbara was a wild, brilliant creature of varying moods and violent emotions. Amy was talented. But Bab, which nobody suspected, was already a personality in embryo and half her vagaries and heartaches came from the fact that she was instinctively and quite unconsciously seeking self-expression, in any way, by any path, through any door.

The older sister was pretty, with blue eyes and a soft snug cap of chestnut hair. Amy's nose was short and straight, her hands and wrists nicely turned, her skin clear and almost colorless, her mouth small and dimpled. But Barbara was always more or less than actually pretty.

Sometimes she was merely a tall girl with splendid bronze curly hair tangled over a low forehead and hanging in a loose knot on her neck, a girl with blue eyes suspiciously brown, and wide scarlet mouth bitten in moments of thought or argument by big, square white teeth. Golden freckles were powdered over Barbara's milk-white skin, and when she was excited, apricot color blazed on her high cheek bones. Her eyes were long, dark-lashed and strangely sweet and appealing in expression; "sweet eyes," Barry Du Spin called them sometimes; sweet even when Bab was at her home.

But at her prettiest, on those rare occasions when freshly brushed curling bronze hair, skin, eyes, freckles and all combined, she could be startlingly handsome. Sometimes a new boy in town would meet her so at a beach picnic or a dance, a stately-eyed creature all laughter and sunny beauty, and would come to call upon her a few evenings later to be pained and amazed at the bored, oddly dulled, plain girl into, which an unfortunate mood had metamorphosed her.

She did not care much about her appearance. Indeed, from her very teens Barbara had worn an air of abstracted and busy indifference to a great many of the interests of her school group. She was always adventuring, experimenting, reaching beyond the placid limitations of the life in Cottonwood, trying to find something bigger, something more essentially her own. All the other girls imitated certain things about Barbara, but she never imitated anyone.

And behind her, adoring and adored, and bewildered, came Amy, consoling her for her many tumbles and inserting, beneath her castles in the air, a solid and common sense.

"If you had to marry one boy in Cottonwood, now, Bab," Amy pursued on this particular afternoon, "what would you marry?"

"One?" Amy, I'm ashamed of you! Do you mean that you think of marrying more than one?"

Amy sighed, screwing the powder box top firmly over the polishing powder.

"You know what I mean," she said.

SOOKE HONORS MR. R. H. POOLEY

THURSDAY MEETING TAKES FORM OF CONSERVATIVE RALLY

Dance Follows Address of Attorney-General-Ten New Members Join Association

SOOKE, Sept. 28.—An attendance of over one hundred assembled in Sooke Hall on Thursday evening to accord a welcome to Hon. R. H. Pooley, Attorney-General of British Columbia, and Mrs. Pooley. Mr. A. Campbell, president of the Conservative Association, occupied the chair.

The meeting was held in the form of a Conservative rally and dance, which followed the address of Mr. Pooley, who thanked the members for their confidence and support at the recent election, and expressed regret that through lack of funds the work of extending the West Coast Road had been shut down. The membership of the association was increased by ten new members during the evening. Mr. G. McIntosh's orchestra provided music for the evening. Those in charge of the refreshments were Mesdames Taylor, Murray, Hooke, M. Muir and Hawkins.

Metochosin Hall Is Now Being Enlarged

METCHOSIN, Sept. 28.—The work of enlarging the hall, which was started last week, is well in hand. It is being widened on the north side, adding 700 square feet to the area of the hall. A "bee" was held on Wednesday, at which a dozen worked, refreshments being served by Mesdames Bolton, Helgeson, MacVicker and Sweetman. Another "bee" will be held shortly, as it is imperative to get the work completed in time for the harvest supper on October 9.

Speaks on Vocations

KEATING, Sept. 28.—The Young People's Society of the South Saanich United Church held its weekly meeting in the church parlor on Monday evening, when there was a good attendance. Miss Alma Heyer led the short devotional service, after which the business meeting was held and final arrangements made for the temperance rally service which will be conducted by the young people on Sunday. Other business was discussed, after which the citizenship committee on home problems took charge, and Mr. A. J. Smith, principal of the North Saanich School, addressed the gathering. The subject of Mr. Smith's talk was "Vocations," which he handled in a very capable manner, outlining many points of interest. Hearty thanks were accorded the speaker at the close of his address, after which the meeting adjourned and a social time was enjoyed. The next meeting will be on Monday evening, when the citizenship committee on world problems will have charge and arrange for a speaker.

NANAIMO, Sept. 28.—A large and enthusiastic crowd attended the annual general meeting of the Nanaimo Badminton Club last evening, at which the following officers were elected: President, M. C. Blunt (re-elected); vice-president, Mr. L. H. Heever-Potts; secretary-treasurer, Mr. John T. Carrigan (re-elected); executive committee, Mrs. N. E. Carter, Miss Helen Dailley, Mr. N. E. Straight as host; and one on the list, at "Benvenuto," with Mr. Butchart as host.

The past season was a very successful one and the financial statement presented by the treasurer showed a substantial balance. The club has been offered the use of a large building in which there is room for at least four courts, playing time to be additional to that already secured in the gymnasium. As a result of this offer a vigorous canvass for members is about to be launched.

HORTICULTURISTS MEET AT SYDNEY

North Saanich Society Organized This Year Has Had Interesting First Season

SIDNEY, Sept. 28.—The general meeting of the North Saanich Horticultural Society was held on Thursday evening in the Wesley Hall. The president, Mr. L. E. Taylor, occupied the chair and opened the meeting, at which there was an enthusiastic attendance of members. The secretary, Mrs. E. W. Hammond, presented her report, which was briefly as follows:

The North Saanich Horticultural Society was organized on March 7, 1928. Since then six executive meetings and four general meetings have been held, and three speakers have given valuable information in interesting addresses: Mr. W. Downes on "Insects and Pests," Mr. Munroe on "Perennials," and the Rev. E. C. Connell on "Planting and Propagation." Two open air meetings have also been held, one on May 2, at the Dominion Experimental Farm, with Mr. E. M. Straight as host; and one on June 16, at "Benvenuto," with Mr. Butchart as host.

EXHIBITS ENTERED

The society entered a fine district exhibit in the flower show held in Victoria on April 27-28. A handsome trophy was presented to the Vancouver Island Horticultural Society, to be named the Professor J. McCowan trophy, for the best collection of mounted wallflowers, to be competed for in 1929.

A flower show was held in the Saanich Agricultural Hall on July 11, and from a horticultural viewpoint, it was a great success; but owing to the very poor attendance, the society went into a debt of $50. To raise funds to offset this debt, a garden fete was held at the Dominion Experimental Farm, through the kind courtesy of Mr. E. M. Straight, and was a most successful success, the society receiving $80.

Gardens were entered in the contest for the selection of the best garden to be shown in the Vancouver Island contest. The selected gardens were: First, Mr. H. L. Ricketts; second, Mr. J. A. Nunn; and third, Mrs. T. Harrison. Owing to the very dry weather, the Saanich gardens failed to get a prize, but great hopes are entertained for next year. The membership at present is 104, but the society hopes to double this by next year. The treasurer's report was then presented and found satisfactory, and the auditor's report was given.

The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows: President, Mr. L. E. Taylor; vice-president, Mrs. J. J. White; secretary, Mrs. E. W. Hammond; treasurer, Mr. A. McDonald; directors, Mrs. T. Harrison, Mrs. J. Bastion, and Messrs. J. J. White, J. A. Nunn and G. Toomer.

THE COMING YEAR

Work for the coming year was briefly outlined, and it is hoped to have speakers address the members on the following subjects: "Bulb Culture," "Rock Gardens," "Hot Beds and Cold Frames," "Annuals and Perennials," "Small Fruits and Vegetables," "Laying Out of

Burgess Bedtime Stories

Jerry Plans a Big House
By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Jerry Muskrat was getting ready for winter. He had started a new house. He was late in starting it. He should have started it a month earlier. But somehow or other Jerry hadn't felt like working while the weather was warm, and it had been unusually warm. Now he had got to work hard and fast to make up for lost time. But when Jerry starts in he is much like Paddy the Beaver, whom he sometimes calls "this big cousin," although really he isn't his cousin at all. You know, Paddy is famous for the way he works.

Jerry had chosen the place for his new house with great care. There were some splendid strong burshes growing in the water and the water was about two feet deep. Right in among these burshes was just the place for the foundations of his house. At first, because he was so late in building, he had planned only a small house, but as he worked and found material close at hand he decided to have a big house. "I'll have the biggest house I've ever had," said he, talking to himself. "I'll show Billy Mink and Little Joe Otter and the rest of the people around here what a real house is like. I'll make it big enough so that I can have company when I want it. Some of the children may want to stay with me this winter. Mrs. Muskrat seems to think that our old home in the bank is good enough, but when she sees this house she'll change her mind."

So Jerry began dragging to the place he had chosen a lot of old dead rushes and grass and bits of sod and mud and roots. He had dug a lot of this stuff out of the bottom of the Smiling Pool for some little distance around the place where the house was to be. At first he just piled it up. By and by he had piled it so high that it began to appear above the surface of the water. He was building a little island there. The island grew bigger and bigger. It wouldn't have been so big had the material not been so handy. The part under water was very largely mud, with just enough of vegetation to hold it together. In digging up this mud he made the water deeper right around the little island. He did this purposely.

"There is nothing like plenty of water when you want to swim," said Jerry, when Mrs. Jerry asked him why he was making the foundation of his house so big. "This mud is easy to dig and when the Smiling Pool freezes and the ice gets thick Grounds," and "Delphiniums and Peonies."

The first of the regular monthly meetings will commence next Thursday evening, and it is hoped to have Mr. J. Hutchinson speak on rock gardens. Further details will be given out later.

It was decided to hold a monthly competition to be held at the regular monthly meeting, of one flower and one vegetable, and the subject chosen for next week are three outdoor tomatoes and one dahlia. Points will be awarded to the best display each week and, at the end of the year, the holder of the most points will receive the prize.

BADMINTON STARTS

DUNCAN, Sept. 28.—A committee of management, Miss G. Owens (president), Mr. E. Flett (secretary), and Miss M. Burkholder (treasurer), was elected by the Badminton Club of the Young People's League of the United Church, who opened their season's play on Thursday evening. For the present the club will play on Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

COMMISSIONER SETS PRICES

Farmers of Lower Mainland Handling Potatoes Agree on Mr. A. Harvey

According to information received at the offices of the Department of Agriculture, the farmers of the Lower Mainland have decided upon Mr. A. Harvey, of Vancouver, as the commissioner, under the Marketing Act for fixing prices of the potatoes to be sold in the Lower Mainland. Mr. Harvey, while being charged with the duty of fixing the prices, will not control the selling, that being left to the potato men to decide upon themselves.

While he will have the authority of fixing the rates, he will be assisted by an advisory board of five representatives of the different districts in the area affected. This body will replace the former three commissioners, consisting of Messrs. George Challenger, F. Sinclair and J. A. Catherwood.

Mr. Harvey is a broker, who has acted as selling agent for the potato growers. Hon. W. L. Atkinson, Minister of Agriculture, who is at present on the mainland, in acquiescing in the action taken by the farmers conveyed to them the opinion of Mr. F. M. Black, chairman of the Interior Fruit and Vegetable Committee of Production. YANKEES CAPTURE AMERICAN LEAGUE

NEW YORK CINCHES SIXTH FLAG AFTER STAGGERING CLIMB

Huguen's Great Stretch Duel With Philadelphia Athletics Comes to End When Yankees Plaster 11 to 6 Defeat on Detroit Tigers—Ruth Hits Fifty-Third Homer of Season

Giants' Chances Dampened By Chicago Cubs' Victory

McGrawmen Take Another on Chin and Hopes for National League Championship Fade Rapidly—Cards Defeat Braves in Fifteen Innings—Need Only One More Win for Pennant

Staggering through a long season that saw their lead, once as great as fourteen games, cut to two and one-half at the finish, the New York Yankees finally clinched the American League pennant yesterday. Their victory came through an 11-6 defeat of the Detroit Tigers. Their Philadelphia rivals also won yesterday's game from the White Sox by a 7-5 count, but remained too far behind to overtake the leaders. The only hope of the Athletics was to win the last three games on the schedule, while New York lost three. The best they can do now is to finish one-half game behind if they sweep the series with Chicago, while the Yankees drop the next two to the Tigers. A difference in the number of games played prevents a tie. The standing of the winners and runners-up follows:

Games W. L. P. Behind
New York 100 52 658
Philadelphia 97 54 642 2 1/2
Games to play—New York: At Detroit, 2; total, 2. Philadelphia: At Detroit, 2; total, 2.

GIANTS STILL IN BOAT
In the struggle for the National League flag, the Giants still remain in the running mathematically, although their hope is a slight one. A seven-run rally by the Cards in the fifteenth innings won yesterday's game from St. Louis the game, 10-3, and put them two full games ahead of the Giants.

The Chicago Cubs attended the other half of the change in relation to the Cardinals yesterday, by handing the Giants a 7-5 setback. The Giants now are down two, a pair of games behind the leaders and the same number to play including the season's winning streak with the Cards on Sunday. The New Yorkers now must take the final game from the Cubs tomorrow, while the Cardinals must win the game from the Braves today, then win the deciding battle with St. Louis to finish in a tie for first place. One victory for St. Louis would put the Giants completely out of the running. The standing follows:

Games W. L. P. Behind
St. Louis 94 58 618
New York 94 60 608 2
Games to play—St. Louis: At Boston, 1; at New York, 1; total, 2. New York: With Chicago, 1; with St. Louis, 1; total, 2.

DETROIT, Sept. 28—The Yankees clinched the sixth American League pennant and their third in succession by defeating the Tigers here today, 11-6. That it was the sixth of the series, Athletics won from Chicago, 7-5, but the Yankees retained a lead of two and one-half games, with only two more to play. The Yankees' victory was a triumph over the Detroit Tigers, who had been the favorites to win the pennant. The Yankees' victory was a triumph over the Detroit Tigers, who had been the favorites to win the pennant.

Babe Ruth hit his fifty-third homer in the eighth inning, with Koenig on base. Page was then in the box for Detroit. Only a landslide could give the Babe enough homers in his two remaining games for him even to tie his major league record of sixty last year, but he may possibly get two more to make 1928 his third best season.

Yanks Started in 1921
The Yanks won the American League championship in 1921 and proceeded to reel off three in a row. Then, after a second-place finish in 1922, and a dip to seventh in 1923, the club regained the top in 1924 for the start of its second run of three.

By winning six flags the Yankees moved into a tie with the Athletics and the Red Sox, each of whom took six in their palmy days.

CHICAGO, Sept. 28—The Athletics dropped out of the 1928 baseball picture today, defeating the White Sox, 7-5, in a well slugging contest. The White Sox outbatted the Athletics, 15-14, but three homers, one each by Coghane, Simmons, and Miller wrecked the hopes of the Sox of squaring the series. Coghane's homer, his tenth of the season, came in the first with no one on. Simmons' homer, his fifteenth of the season, came in the ninth, also with the bases empty. Miller had a perfect day at bat with four singles in addition to his homer, in five trips to the plate.

St. Louis 7 14 1
Chicago 5 15 6

ites by two full games. Each contender has but two games to play.

Long Grind
It required three hours and twenty-four minutes to play today's game. The slowest game with one out in the fifteenth when Richmond, playing right field for the Braves, and who had been putting up a great game at bat and in the field, made a three-base miff on George Harper's long high fly. Wilson walked and so did Thevenon, pinch hitter. Bladed walked and forced in the run which broke the three-all deadlock. That would have been ample to win the game for the visitors. Bell made an error on Douthett's hard grounder, and High, whose single had driven in the tying run for the Cards in the ninth, crashed out a two-bagger. Frisch walked, Bottomley singled, and there was a double steal, and the stunning total of seven runs had crossed the plate for the Cards.

St. Louis 10 1
Boston 3 11 2
(Fifteen innings)

Batteries—Alexander, Johnson and Wilson; Smith, Greenfield and Spohr.

Giants in Grave
NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Giants' pennant hopes for 1928 were placed neatly in the grave this afternoon, but they won't throw on the dirt until tomorrow. There is still some slight chance that the corpse may come back to life. The Cubs mused up Benton in a disgraceful manner this afternoon and showed no better manners when Joseph Genewich was introduced from the mound. Old Jack Scott, finally came into the rescue in the ninth, but the damage already had been done in the shape of a 7-5 victory for the Bruins.

Wait for Tidings
The Cardinals and the Braves were still at it in Boston. Was it possible that the delicate Braves could turn back the leaders' Giants? Showers waited while some thirty steaming young athletes crowded about the ticker in John McGraw's office in the clubhouse; but what they read burned their eyes.

"National" at Boston, fifteenth: St. Louis, 7-0. That grand inning gave the forces of William McKechnie the big end of the bacon by 10-0 after the Braves had made as if to scurry mischievously off with the winning run on several occasions. It further increased the margin of the Cards over the Giants to two full games, enabled the team to go to the top of the list, and another Cardinal victory or another Giant defeat.

Chicago 7 13 0
St. Louis 10 1
Batteries—Bush, Carlson and Hartnett; Gonzales, Benton, Genewich, Scott and Hogan.

COAST LEAGUE
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 28.—Sterling pitching by Walter Ruthier, league-leading hurler, who increased seven games today, enabled the Seals to score a 3-0 win over the Missions and remain in a tie for first place. Ruthier, who has lost but six games, set the Missions down with three hits in as many frames.

Missions 0 3 3
San Francisco 3 10 0
Batteries—Nance and Baldwin; Ruthier and Sprinz.

Acorns Defeat Indians
OAKLAND, Sept. 28.—Oakland came through for a 7-6 win from Seattle today. Off to a good start by scoring three runs in the first, and as many more in the second inning, the Oaks kept ahead of the Indians throughout.

Seattle 6 13 0
Oakland 7 6 1
Batteries—House and Cox; McEvey and Lombardi.

Angels Walked
LOS ANGELES, Sept. 28.—Hollywood won on a hitting spree and walked Los Angeles 13-4 today to even the series and to keep in the pitch of the Coast League pennant race.

Hollywood 13 4 1
Los Angeles 4 10 0
Batteries—Shellenback, Hollerson and Agnew; Weatherly, Platt, Gabler and Norton.

Sacs Nosed Out
SACRAMENTO, Sept. 28.—Sacramento and Portland played an exciting reproduction of Thursday's game here today, even to the score when Pitcher Jack Knight filled the bases in the eighth on intentional passes, then lost control and walked in the winning run.

Portland 1 7 0
Sacramento 2 8 3
Batteries—Knight and Rego; Grandall and Kohler.

FOOTBALL LINE-UPS
Esquimaux Juniors—Smith, Anderson, Warder, Bain, Hicks, Wills, Hicks, Brien, Wright, McLean and Stewart.

Victoria City will be selected from the following: Bridges, W. Campbell, Margison, Stoffer, Preston, Bowman, Gould, D. Hunsell, C. Hunsell, B. Burns, Glancy, McBay and J. Carmichael. Players are asked to meet at the Victoria of France at 2:30 o'clock.

Hagen Says P.G.A. Golf Is Fairer Than Amateur

British Open Champion Declares Competitors in Pro Tournament Must Show Form Before Getting In—Influence Factor in Other

By WALTER HAGEN
British Open Golf Champion, American Professional Champion.
(Copyright 1928, in all countries, by North American Newspaper Alliance.)

SYRACUSE, N.Y., Sept. 28.—Next week at the Five Farms course near Baltimore, the Professional Golfers' Association will have the eleventh annual championship, where I will be called upon to defend the title I have won for four consecutive years. There will be a fine field—more than 1,000 players in twenty-five sections.

These will play a thirty-six-hole qualifying round on Monday for the twenty-two places in the match play, which will continue through the week.

In this connection it might be said that the P.G.A. method for qualifying is much faster than the amateur method, which is quite arbitrary.

The United States Golf Association accepts for the amateur championship such players as it wishes, and rejects the others. Golf is growing so fast in America that it is absolutely impossible for any association to know all the rising young players.

After all, a national golf championship is supposed to be a sporting contest, and not a social event. Sometimes I wonder if I had been an amateur golfer I would have been eligible to compete for the national championship. I cannot see why any amateur golfer who considers himself capable of qualifying for the amateur championship should be denied the opportunity of trying. This is a land for equal opportunity and it should be remembered that Ray R. Gorton, a Braeburn Club member, had Bobby Jones all but counted out in this year's national championship.

NOT REPRESENTATIVE
I imagine there are hundreds of players with a burning desire to play in the amateur championship, who would do so if they were given the opportunity that sectional qualifying rounds would permit. This would greatly stimulate interest among the younger amateur golfers and make the ultimate field more representative than it can possibly be under present conditions.

I am not calling attention to this manner of getting together the field for the amateur because I think it would bring out someone who could beat Jones—because it wouldn't. But it would certainly put the championship on a strictly competitive basis from start to finish.

IN CAUSE OF "INFLUENCE"
It is obvious to anyone who knows something about the amateur golfers of America that a great many of the starters in the amateur championship are there because of what might be termed "influence."

Some of these players, although very charming socially, haven't qualified for a number of years. There is no reason why they should not be allowed to try. However, it seems a bit unfair to allow these fellows to hook their tee shots, dig up divots and miss putts to the exclusion of others who can do all these things just as well, and who would also appreciate an opportunity of trying to qualify in the national.

One thing is certain: if there is a single professional golfer in America who didn't start in the cham-

FISHING IS GOOD AT COWICHAN BAY

COWICHAN BAY, Sept. 28.—A fresh run of spring salmon is in the bay, and a great number of cohoes, which are giving the fishermen lots of sport. R. Hanan, who has been stopping at the Cowichan Bay Inn, landed two cohoes about eighteen pounds each this morning and many others were also caught.

Twenty-Four Teams to Play in Basketball Loop

City League Will Swing Into Action on October 10, With Games at Centennial Gymnasium—Successful Season Anticipated

On the eve of the opening of the 1928-29 basketball season, twenty-four teams are standing by awaiting the shrill sound of the referee's whistle, that will turn the first wheels of the machine and set them in quest of the championships of their respective sections. The season is scheduled to open on October 10. The games which will act as the curtain-raiser of another year with the eagles, will be played at the Centennial gymnasium.

The teams entered in the respective sections of the City Basketball League are as follows:

Men's Senior "A"—Capitals and C.P.S.
Men's Senior "B"—Normal School, J.B.A.A., Sons of Canada and Keating.

Men's Senior "C"—Hudson's Bay, Normal School, J.B.A.A., James Island, Keating, Foresters, Y.M.I., Fourx, Centennial and Navy.

Intermediate "A"—Falcons, Victoria College, Victoria Ship Service Station, Crescents and Centennial.

Ladies' Senior "B"—Victoria College, Red Birds, Axioms, Keating and Pelida.

SHORTAGE OF SENIOR "A"
It will be noticed by the teams entered and their different divisions, that there is an apparent shortage of Senior "A" players. According to one of the officials of the league, this situation has arisen over the class of basketball being played by the "B" division teams.

In the Senior "A" Capitals and C.P.S. will have to fight it out for the honors. The former team is practically the Jordan River championship squad of last season, while the latter has about the same team to send in search of the honors.

Fighting Spirit of N.Y. Yankees Earned Them American Loop Title

Trumbull Says Grit Shown by Champion Stamps Them as Real Team—Declares Giant Great Team, But Cards Deserve Flag

By WALTER TRUMBULL
Copyright, 1928, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.

The Yankees are champions of the American League. From now on it makes no difference what the Athletics do. The closest they can get is half a game to the bad and they must content themselves with having made a stirring race of it. The Macmen just about kicked away the flag in that final New York series. They appeared to have at least two of the games they lost all tied up and put away. But they couldn't stand the strain. It is a queer thing that they had such a Yankee complex.

There is scarcely a fan in the country who will not compliment Huguenin and his men. The New York team has shown the most shining courage in the face of adversity that would have put the average club out of the running. It is little less than a baseball miracle that it managed to stagger home in front.

Penock, Ruth, Lazzeri, Combs and others have been either out of the game or playing when they should have been on the bench or at home in bed. Moore was of no such assistance as he was last year. The Yankees have come to the flag through sheer grit and determination and the champion's ability to make good in the pinch.

GIANTS STILL HAVE CHANCE
By tonight we shall know how things stand in the National League. It looks as if the pennant was safe for St. Louis, but the Giants still have one of the most outside of outside chances.

Should Boston defeat the Cards today and New York win from Chicago, then the Giants will have a chance to tie St. Louis in the last scheduled game of the season. But it would appear that Boston made its bid yesterday and lost. Still there is one more game before New Yorkers will concede that flag.

St. Louis deserves to win. It had to take an extra inning game and a Brooklyn and this last fifteen inning game in Boston to keep its advantage, and it took them. That shows true battle spirit.

GALLANT ADVERSARIES
But there is not a player on the St. Louis team who would deny that they have had gallant adversaries today and New York win from Chicago. At least it must have been a hard fought battle.

It appeared several weeks ago that the Cards were the favorites for the flag—and I still think that with their pitching staff and general strength they should have been much further in front. But the Giants refused to be shaken off.

I do not think that they need an alibi or that their followers would be so ready to believe that the champion had been knocked out. I think they are a team to be reckoned with.

Well, that is perfectly all right in professional baseball, if the umpires let you do it. Such catchers as Robble, Kling and Brennan used to block the plate with great regularity on a close play and runners have been known to be blocked off second base and to be given the pin when rounding third. SENSATIONAL FIGHT
It was a sensational fight and close decision, but the game of official little Frenchman won the official verdict by the way he turned the tide in the eighth round. From then on he clearly outgaited Canzonieri, who tired under his challenger's relentless pounding and to the edge of an attack that had given him a commanding lead in the first round.

Routis took back to France the same featherweight title that he had won in 1923, but lost two months later to Johnny Dundee.

Routis staged his comeback after being knocked out in the first round. He was floored in the first two minutes of the fight by a right hook that swung him clear around and to the floor with a thud. On the Frenchman's untiring perseverance enabled him to weather the storm of blows that struck him from every direction during the rest of the opening round.

FIGHT UP BIG LEAD
The champion by the end of the seventh, as he outpunched and outboxed the challenger, appeared to have a lead that was insurmountable. At least it must have been so against any fighter of less rugged calibre or persistence than Routis. The Frenchman never gave up when he realized after seven rounds that Canzonieri was tiring fast. He leaped in with a ferocity that quickly turned the tide and put Tony on the defensive.

Routis won seven of the last eight rounds, but his furious, two-flute attack in the last four proved too decisive factor. He pounded the champion's body ceaselessly and frequently connected with short hook that shook the chunky little Italian.

At the finish, however, it was a close that the officials were unable to agree. One judge cast his ballot for Canzonieri, but the other judge together with Referee Eddie Forbe decided the fight in favor of the Frenchman. On the Associate Press score card Routis was given seven rounds and Canzonieri six, with the round even.

LOVE TENORIO WINS
In the ten-round semi-final, Lopez Tenorio, hard-hitting Filipino, punched out a victory over Bas Galliano, New Orleans welterweight. It was a contest between a wild slugger and a clever, shifty veteran. The Filipino shifted 1371-2 and Galliano 1411-2.

FOUGHT OFTEN
Oscar Gardner, famous as the "Omaha Kid" in bygone days, engaged in 547 bouts during his career which included numerous "twelve" and twenty-five round fights. Although he scaled but 116 pounds, he was built like a water-pump.

Teams who have failed to receive their registration forms can get them from the secretary or the president.

As during last season, the Y.M.C.A. and Centennial gymnasiums will be used for all league games.

MARION WILSON WINS CITY WOMEN'S GOLF TITLE

Youthful Star Downs Mrs. Philbrick 7 and 5 In One-Sided Match

Victoria Golf Club Player Shoots Brilliant Golf in Defeating Clubmate—Mrs. Jackson Wins First Flight by Default

Miss Marion Wilson, of the Victoria Golf Club, added the city women's golf championship to her British Columbia title yesterday at the Colwood Golf and Country Club, when she walked through Mrs. B. R. Philbrick, also of Oak Bay, 7 and 5, in the final eighteen-hole match. The champion played brilliant golf after a faulty first hole, while her opponent was far short of her usual game. Miss Wilson held the title two years ago.

It was one of those finals which found one of the golfers at the top of her form and the other just struggling along. Mrs. Philbrick got away to a bad start, and although she made several gallant attempts to get going, she failed completely. Miss Wilson was never in danger after the first few holes and traveled along without making very many mistakes, and ended the match on the thirteenth green.

After the first hole Miss Wilson was unbeatable, except for a lapse on the twelfth hole, where she hooked her drive to the trees on the left. She was five up on the first nine and down at the eleventh. She lost the twelfth, but won the thirteenth to close the match.

MISSED ONLY ONE SHOT
Miss Wilson only missed one shot, that was her second on the second hole. Her drives were 200 yards or better, and she had her brassies, irons and mashie working to perfection. Her putting was excellent, and she required only one putt on the sixth, seventh and eleventh greens. This first was her only three-putted green.

Mrs. Philbrick was plainly nervous from the start and she never at any time found herself. At times, however, she flashed her form, but the spasmodic showings were no match for the calibre of golf displayed by her youthful opponent. Her drives were good, but her brassies were poor. One club that was working, however, was her mashie, and several times this club came to her rescue. Her putting also was erratic.

Miss Wilson won the first hole with a six, after Mrs. Philbrick had missed her second shot. In three and then took three putts, which Miss Wilson did likewise. The second was halved in five, each being on in three and down in two putts. Miss Wilson had an element of luck here, when her hard-hit approach putt struck Mrs. Philbrick's ball and stopped two feet from the pin.

Miss Wilson took the third in five, after Mrs. Philbrick three-putted the carpet. The short, fourth was halved in four, after Miss Wilson stymied Mrs. Philbrick. Faulty putting was the cause of her defeat.

MANUSH STILL LEADS GOSLIN

St. Louis Browns' Star Tops Goslin by Two Points and Gehrig by Nine in American Batting Race

HORNSBY ASSURED NATIONAL HONORS

With his batting title assured, Rogers Hornsby led down in yesterday's fifteen-inning battle with the Cardinals. His homer was the only safe hit he made in five times at bat. As a result his average fell off two points to .368. His rival, Paul Waner, did not play yesterday and his batting mark remained at .370.

Hornsbys, Braves, 139 444 59 188 342
P. Waner, Pirates, 139 444 59 188 342
Heinie Manush added three more points to his narrow margin of leadership in the American League by knocking out three safe hits in four attempts against the Senators.

His average went up to .370. Goslin did a large part of the hitting for the other side and is right on Manush's trail. The Goosie got two hits in three times at bat and stayed within two points of the leader at .377. Lou Gehrig, the Yanks' contribution to the batting race, got two hits in four tries and went up one point to .370.

POLO SERIES WILL START IN U.S. TODAY

Argentines Favored to Defeat Americans for Championship of Americas—Teams Announced

30,000 EXPECTED TO WATCH MATCHES

By PETER VISCHER Editor of Polo.

International polo, with its panorama of brilliant color, once more takes the centre of the sports stage this afternoon, when Argentina meets the United States in the first match ever played for the "Championship of the Americas."

The match takes place at the Meadowbrook Club, Westbury, Long Island, the heart of American polo. The series, which establishes a new international competition, might better be called for the "championship of the world." Since 1914 the United States has beaten the outstanding challengers, Great Britain, three times, without suffering defeat. During those same years the Argentines have made such spectacular progress that they appear today favorites over the defenders of world honors at this oldest of sports.

After a particularly bitter series of test matches, in which players and ponies all but wore themselves out, in which changes were made with startling suddenness and clashing personalities, these four players were finally chosen to represent the United States: W. Averett, Harman at No. 1; Thomas Hitchcock, Jr., captain of the team and the game's most brilliant star, No. 2; Malcolm Stevenson, veteran internationalist, No. 3; and Young Winston Frederick Churchill Guest, back.

The Argentine line-up has been known and unchanged, since the Southern States announced their invasion of North America, nearly a year ago: Arturo J. Kenny, No. 1; Jack D. Nelson, dashing captain, No. 2; the challenge, No. 3; burly Johnny Miles, No. 3; and Lewis Lawrence Lacey, supreme polo artist, back.

PLENTY OF SUBSTITUTES

Both teams are prepared with substitutes. The United States may call upon the several players who tried so vigorously, if unsuccessfully, to make the team, notably Stephen Sanford, Captain C. A. Williams, Bobby Strawbridge and Earle A. S. Hopping. The Argentines, in emergency, will call upon a true son of the United States, for all its prowess, another powerful player, whose resemblance to the battering ram of flatie fame has many times been noted.

The Meadowbrook Club is a magnet for lovers of sport from many sections of the world today. Interest has been stimulated during the last few days by the spectacular play of the Argentines and by the note too gratifying fact that the United States, for all its prowess, at the game, has its back squarely against the wall.

More than 30,000 persons are expected on the spacious great lawns of the Meadowbrook Club, arriving by special train, by motor, even by airplane. They represent the world of society, of industry, of sports. The list of box-holders at Meadowbrook may invariably be gleaned from the pages of the social register.

And yet, for all the attention lavished upon polo by the swankier Argos, while Hamilton's seniors Argentina and the United States are primarily a sporting event.

FOOTBALL IN EAST TO START TODAY

All Teams Will Be In Action in Preparation for Official Opening of Campaigns Next Week

TORONTO, Sept. 28.—Rugby football takes the Eastern sport page Saturday with a full dress rehearsal in preparation for the official opening of the major campaigns next week.

At Grant's Stadium, Balm Beach, Canadians, senior champions, meet Kitchener-Waterloo, Dominion Intermediate champions, in the first of the senior ranks of the O.R.F.U. Argonauts, hope for inter-provincial honors, tackle Varsity's oval, while in Hamilton, Queens and Tigers, last year's O.R.F.U. finalists, clash.

Practically all the other senior teams will be busy, for Ottawa will entertain Camp Borden at Lansdowne Park, while Sarnia, new senior O.R.F.U. entry, will work out with the Wanderers, the Tunnel-town's representatives in the intermediate ranks. Varsity Orphans will help out the seniors against Argos, while Hamilton's senior O.R.F.U. squad will be working with the Tigers.

Montreal's "big four" tribe plays an inter-city exhibition match with Westwards.

Loughran Says He Is Set For First Heavyweight Go

Light-Heavyweight Champion Figures His Experience Will Win for Him Over Jack Gross on Monday Night—Has Trained Hard

By TOMMY LOUGHRAN

Light-Heavyweight Champion of the World (Copyright, 1928, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

Monday night at the Philadelphia National League ball park I'm going to make my start—my real start, if you can call it such after a good many years of successful work—toward the heavyweight championship. I'm scheduled to go ten rounds with Jack Gross, two hundred pound Salem boxer, who has never been beaten.

I've trained hard, and I'm heavy and strong enough for the battle. Gross will have twenty or twenty-five pounds pull in the weights, but I'll have the advantage of much greater experience.

You can't get very far in any sport without experience. Look at Harry Blitman and Benny Bass. Harry had a brilliant, unmarred record against some of the best men of his class in the world, but more experienced Bass knocked him out.

Look what Tunney's experience means. When Dempsey knocked him down and apparently out in Chicago. A less ring-wise man would have been finished then. Tunney was in perfect condition to weather the storm, but a boxer is just as fine shape and with less experience would have been wiped out.

This is true all through the history of the ring. There is nothing that takes the place of experience. You only get it through hard knocks and long effort. Gross is a great prospect. I think a game, strong, hard-fighting, confident young fellow. Against Roberto Roberti he fought a fine fight, but Roberti was just as inexperienced as Gross. Jack Gross has improved steadily. He will continue to improve, but without boasting I think I'll beat him. Why shouldn't I? If I didn't think it wouldn't be good judgment to take the fight at all.

Mike McGuire, the man I won the light-heavyweight championship from, seems about ready to end his long and brilliant career. He was knocked out in one round by Tuffy Griffiths the other night and he is well fixed financially. There seems no reason why Mike should continue in the ring.

This Griffiths, incidentally, seems to be getting better all the time, and I'll soon have to take him into calculation as a real contender for the 175-pound title. He's a very strong young fellow. While he hasn't shown his wares in the East he has been a sensation around Chicago for the last year.

It's too bad McGuire is through. He was a great boxer in his day, and he's a fine fellow. There were no smarter ones in the game, either in or out of the ring.

Giants' Protest Against Chicago Cubs Disallowed

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—President John Heydler, of the National League today disallowed the protest lodged by the Giants of the first game of yesterday's double-header with the Cubs, which Chicago won.

The Giants had claimed that Catcher Harriott, of the Cubs, illegally interfered with Reese, when the latter was trapped between third base and home plate.

Warned of Stretcher Due in Four Minutes

AS CAPTAIN OF THE YALE TEAM I WOULD SUGGEST THAT WE MAKE THE FIRST PERIOD OF PLAY TEN MINUTES, THE SECOND PERIOD TWENTY MINUTES, THE THIRD PERIOD FIFTEEN MINUTES.

LIESEN YOUNG FELLOW—WE DON'T CARE WHETHER THE PERIODS ARE FIVE MINUTES OR ALL DAY—AND AS FOR YOU—YOU WON'T BE IN THE FIRST PERIOD OF PLAY!!!

By AL DEMAREE (Former Pitcher, New York Giants)
Dick Hiltner, Northwestern's football coach, claims that Frank Cavanaugh, the former Dartmouth star who coaches Fordham, is the most colorful coach in the country—more colorful than Warner, Zuppke or Rockne—and he cites this story to prove it.

Cavanaugh—who, incidentally, at the age of 41, the father of five children, enlisted in the army as a private during the war and came back with a handful of decorations—was coaching Boston College when he booked a game with Yale.

Captain of the Blue was Tim Callahan, whom Cavanaugh had known since he was a little uneducated Irish terrier, with no tincture of culture. But Yale had worked wonders with Tim, and he was quite an upstager the day he brought his team over for a practice romp with Cavanaugh's eleven.

Before the game, Yale men carried out a bunch of stretchers and dropped them in front of the Boston bench. Cavanaugh had his men pick them up and take them right back in front of the Eli bench.

Then, just before the kickoff, Capt. Callahan, of Yale, came over, and using very stilted and precise language, with a good many trick words, suggested, "Mr. Cavanaugh, I, as captain of the Yale eleven, would like to suggest that we play the first period ten minutes, the second period twelve minutes, the third period fourteen minutes, and the fourth period fifteen minutes."

"The hell you say," was Cavanaugh's reply. "Is this the Little Callahan I used to know so well down the alley? All I got to say is this: It won't matter as far as you are concerned how long the periods are, because you're going to be in there after the first four minutes!"

NEW HOOP BODY MAY BE FORMED

Vancouver Island Basketball League Expected to Swing Into Action This Season

MEETING TO BE HELD ON SUNDAY

A Vancouver Island basketball league, with the pick of Up-Island quintettes playing here during the coming season, may be formed this year, according to information received last night from Jack Taylor, president of the City Basketball League. The annual meeting of the Vancouver Island Basketball Association will be held at Nanaimo on Sunday, when the matter will be discussed. The local league will be represented by the president, while Vivian Shoemaker, secretary of the Sunday School League, will represent that body.

In addition to the suggested formation of the Island loop, local fans will be afforded the opportunity of seeing some of the finest cage teams on the Coast in action here this year. As the season progresses, the British Columbia Basketball Association, will, it is understood, arrange for different teams to tour the Mainland and the Island. In addition, it is the intention of the management of the Capitals to bring a number of outside teams here before the season closes.

BAKER TO MEET VANCOUVER FLASH

When Gordie Wallace, shifty pug from Jack Cranham's stable of boxers, climbs over the ropes tonight in the main event of the flutic show to be staged at the Tillicum gymnasium by the Central Boxing Club, the Mainland scrapper will be making his second appearance here in eight days. He is matched against Leo Felix, hard-hitting Filipino, from Seattle.

Followers of the leather-throwing game will remember the latter for his bout with Stoker Percy Lake, of H.M.S. Durban, here a few months ago, and also the Vancouver lad, who made a good impression with the fans in his scrap with Dave Lewis, at the Sons of Canada Hall, last Saturday. Tonight's mix promises to be a thriller from the first round of the going until the last round, providing that it goes the limit.

In the semi-windup Jumbo Davies, Victoria's youthful pugilist star, will step six rounds with Ray Woods, of Seattle. The local boxer has always shown a willingness to mix, and in his recent performance has been accounting for his opposition. Tonight he is meeting a classy boy in the personage of Ray Woods, of Seattle, and will be forced to travel at a fast clip all of the way.

Roy Baker, who a few years ago was rated among the better class of boxers, will make the first step of his comeback effort tonight, when he tries conclusions with Jackie Newman, of Vancouver, in a scheduled four-round battle.

Two other four-round bouts, which will bring together Ted Beales and Millett, of Seattle, and C. Bradshaw and McFadden, another Sound city boxer, round out a card of five bouts. The first mix will start at 8:30 o'clock.

TENNIS RESULTS AT FOREST HILLS

FOREST HILLS, N.Y., Sept. 28.—Karl Koselsh and Vincent Richards, respectively professional tennis champions of Europe and of the United States, will clash in the final of the American title tournament tomorrow. On form and the record of their series abroad, the title of American champion is about to pass to the holding of the Czechoslovakian.

Koselsh in his semi-final today against Harvey Snodgrass, the Californian, played cat and mouse most of the time, winning in straight sets, 6-4, 6-2, 6-1. He practised shots as if in anticipation of Richards' net assaults. He was, however, easily master of the rallies, and his wealth of stroke production is not likely to let down.

Richards has not touched his top form in this tournament. His net attacks have been uncertain and his many errors of volleying into the barrier nearly cost him his match against Howard Kinsey, of San Francisco, this afternoon. Richards finally won, 2-6, 6-3, 5-7, 6-2, 10-8. Kinsey and Snodgrass meet in a special match at 2 p.m. tomorrow.

"The hell you say," was Cavanaugh's reply. "Is this the Little Callahan I used to know so well down the alley? All I got to say is this: It won't matter as far as you are concerned how long the periods are, because you're going to be in there after the first four minutes!"

MISS COLLETT REACHES FINAL OF U.S. GOLF

Former Champion Will Play Youthful Miss Virginia Van Wie for American Women's Title

EX-TITLEHOLDERS DEFEATED IN SEMIS

HOT SPRINGS, Sept. 28.—Two hot hitters, Glenna Collett, of Providence, and Virginia Van Wie, of Chicago, will have their day in the women's golf championship tomorrow with the national title at stake at the end of the round. Both women can hit a golf ball farther than the average man, and they meet for the championship as a result of their stories today in the semi-finals.

Miss Collett has won the championship twice in 1922 and 1923—she is the first woman to win the title again by defeating Mrs. G. Henry Stetson, Philadelphia, who is also worn the crown, 4 up and to play.

MRS. HURD BEATEN
Miss Van Wie in the meantime as having to work for her victory over Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd, Philadelphia player, who has been the champion of the United States and in addition twice held the title in her native Britain. Mrs. Hurd fought heroically to the last, but Van Wie has had only one up match in the title hunt, and as well acquainted with the thirteenth green as a finishing hole, she was able to decide the issue and went away.

The thirty-six hole final test is expected to develop into a titanic struggle for golf supremacy among the women.

The other members of the famous Canadian girls' Olympic relay team will act as guard of honor.

Hope of Recovering Loot From Imperial Manchu Tombs Slight

PEKING, Sept. 28.—Although police and military authorities still are keeping a strict watch on the ruins of the tombs of the Manchus, they have little hope of recovering the most valuable of the treasures stolen from Imperial Manchu tombs in the eastern hills, ninety miles from Peking.

Desecration of the tombs by former Chinese soldiers has caused the Manchus and Chinese alike. Because of the general practice of ancestor worship in China, the act is considered even more reprehensible by the Chinese than it would be in the West.

Sacred vessels of carved jade, massive vases and incense burners of gold and silver, and figures carved in rare metals and stones, are among the plunder of the vandals.

It is reported that a band of about 2,000 soldiers, led by a subordinate general, raided the tombs. The thieves will have great difficulty in disposing of their loot on account of the size of the objects and their immense value. Most of the treasures will probably be broken up so that the jade, gold and silver and precious stones may be recovered and sold in bulk.

Manchu treasures of great value have been disappearing almost constantly from the palaces and museums in Peking for the past seventeen years. The former servants of the Empress Dowager and Boy Emperor are known to have taken many of these. Chinese curio dealers here insist that a large theft occurred in 1924, when Marshal Feng Yu-hsiang occupied Peking. At that time, they say, an entire caravan of treasures was taken into the Northwest. If this story is true, the objects taken are still concealed somewhere, as they have never appeared on the market in China or abroad.

Mr. Broadfoot has been inspector in British Columbia for some years, and is well known to the company's agents in the province.

Mr. P. H. Minchin is appointed inspector in place of Mr. C. Broadfoot. Mr. Broadfoot announces that the Victoria agency will be represented by Messrs. Roe & Co., Ltd., the Cameron Investment & Securities Co., Ltd., and Goodale & Webb.
